MANILA, Sept. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—Major General Leonard Wood today announced his acceptance of the post of governor-general of the Philippines, tendered to him by President Harding.

General Wood notified Secretary of War Weeks that he would retire from active service to accept the governorship. He said he believed it to be his patriotic duty to accept the position owing to the seriousness of the situation in the Philippines. General Wood said he probably would not ask retirement from the army until his appointment as governor-general of the Philippines had been confirmed by the senate.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. Orders for the immediate entrainment of troops for the West Virginia strike zone were issued early today by Major General Harbord, assistant chief of staff.

All war department arrangements were said to be complete for promulgating martial law as soon as troops now on the way arrive in the disturbed area. Secretary of War Weeks, arriving early at his office, asked that all communications received during the night be placed before him.

The orders for the dispatch of troops were issued as the result of a telegram from Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, who was sent by Secretary Weeks to report on the situation and particularly upon whether the strikers would accede to President Harding's command that they disperse.

General Bandholtz at midnight last night recommended that troops be sent "at once."

The troops which will move immediately are the 25th and 16th Infantry at Camp Dix, N. J., and the 19th In-

WHITE MOTHERS ADOPT INDIAN BABY SLINGS

Yosemite National Park, Sept. 1.—Modern mothers are taking their cue from the Indians when they go hiking nowadays. Here is one in Yosemite National park who finds a baby so handy on the trail. She just bundles him up in a pouch and slings him on her back while she visits its Glacier Point and Nevada Falls and all the other interesting places. She also knows how to dress for the mountains—no silly skirts to make extra weight and opportunities for tripping. If you could see her shoes, you would notice stout soles, broad toes and low heels.

She said her name was Mrs. Cora Wilkinson of Boston.

READJUSTMENT 75 P. C. ACCOMPLISHED

Seventy-five per cent of the "road of readjustment" has been safely traveled and a strong concerting of will and effort on the part of business in all sections of the country will soon complete the way, George M. Verity, president of the American Rolling Mills Co., of Middletown, O., writes to the New York Commercial. Mr. Verity adds that the large tasks of today are an exhilarating challenge to men of strength and courage. He says:

"This is indeed a time for strengthening the morale of the workers of the nation. Nothing can possibly be gained by undue pessimism or by magnifying the his of the times."

"There is no mystery about the present situation. The war carried us to extreme heights of inflation and then after a very brief respite, we went up again to greater costs and higher prices."

"Going up is usually exhilarating, but the coming down is tedious and often distressing."

"We have been making the return trip ever since last November, and we still have some distance to cover before we arrive at the foot of the mountain we were climbing in climbing, where we can start up the next incline of full employment and more prosperous conditions."

"There never was a time in the history of the world when there were so many important, complex and perplexing problems to be solved—but why be dismayed or even discouraged."

"It requires large tasks to develop the full strength of men and of nations—nothing else can do it."

"The men and the women of the civilized nations of the earth have just won a world war, so gigantic in its proportions, so horrible in its details, so tremendous in its cost, so tragic in its results, as to fairly stagger imagination."

"The task that faced each nation as it entered the war was stupendous, but its men and its women bared their backs and one and all acclaimed 'They shall not pass!'"

"If humanity can win in such a tragic, ghastly enterprise, it is not going to be shackled or even checked in the solving of the problems of peace."

"These are, however, times that require the same spirit of sacrifice and determination that was contributed so generously by all in the winning of the war. Each must see his or her part and do it promptly and resolutely, in order that we may get back to a period of profitable employment for all at the earliest possible date."

"Labor is responding to the need of getting back to somewhere near pre-war levels, and as a result, costs of production are rapidly reaching bottom where prices can be made that will bring a complete return of confidence on the part of the buyers of the country."

"The railroad situation is improved, but still requires much of readjustment and of constructive upbuilding to meet the need of the nation."

"Agriculture was stunned by the sudden and drastic reversal of conditions, but it has weathered the storm and bids fair to be the first to fully recuperate."

"Our financial system has stood the strain splendidly. It is readjusting itself to meet the need of the present situation and it will see us through safely."

"In my opinion, seventy-five per cent of this most unpleasant 'road of readjustment' has been traveled and seventy-five per cent of the cost paid."

"A strong steady 'pull' together can soon complete the job."

"Our president and his cabinet, supported by the legislative branch of our government are facing the problems of taxation, tariff and readjustment of national and international affairs courageously and effectively."

FORCE NO CURE IN COAL FIELDS, SAYS GOMPERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The trouble West Virginia will not be cured by forcing men into submission while allowing continuance of the evils against which they have so desperately protested," Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a statement last night.

"I join with all Americans," Mr. Gompers said, "in denouncing the violence in that state, but it is worse than useless to deal with the surface manifestations while allowing the deep, underlying, systematic criminality to continue, uninterrupted with and unchecked."

The basic facts, which he charged had not been fully and truthfully presented by the public press and the federal government, he described as follows:

"The miners of West Virginia constitute the last refuge of authority in the mining industry. In these mines an unrestrained, unlimited greed dominates absolutely. Absentee owners hold immense tracts of rich mining land, demanding only dividends."

"The appetite of this private greed is upheld by a private army of killers—the like of which no longer exists in any other state. This private army is paid by the mine owners and naturally seeks to justify its presence by making 'business' for itself in the form of trouble. The Baldwin-Feltz detective agency recruits this army, but the mine owners pay the bill."

Deputy sheriffs paid by mine owners form another wing of the private army, equally dangerous.

"The present strike is a direct protest against the action of the mine owners of West Virginia in refusing to abide by the award of the United States government at this time demands the mine owners and does not destroy the private armies of the mine owners the government is in the position of sustaining a defiance of an order issued by its own authority."

"The state government of West Virginia has broken down not because the miners have protested against lawlessness, but because it has failed to stop the mine owners from enforcing law as a private business at the hands of privately paid and privately directed gunmen."

"The United States government," he said in conclusion, "can do a great service by destroying government by gunmen, by restoring civil government uncorrupted by coal mine autocracy and by giving to the miners an opportunity to secure justice and to be free from persecution and enjoying their constitutional rights."

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Wireless waves 159,000 meters long, which he believed may have come from Mars, were picked up several months ago by Guglielmo Marconi, during experiments aboard his yacht Electra in the Mediterranean.

J. C. H. MacBeth, London manager of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, Ltd., made this statement yesterday at a luncheon of the Rotary club.

The maximum wave length produced on the earth today is 14,000 meters, Mr. MacBeth said, and the regularity of the waves detected by Mr. Marconi and other experts led them to believe that they were not electrical disturbances, but efforts of Mars to get into communication with the earth. The only resemblance of the waves to any code used on the earth was a similarity to the letter V in the international code.

On April 5, 1920, when Mr. Marconi set out from London on an experimental voyage, he declared he was not "going fishing for Mars messages," and attributed wireless disturbances, which at that time were felt simultaneously on three continents to electrical disturbances in the sun or some equally remote place.

LOUD COLORS RIVAL DAINTY LINGERIE SHADES

BY MARIAN HALL
NEW YORK, August 30.—According to the somewhat cynical theory that woman is most attractively dressed when the least dressed, lingerie is a most important feature of feminine apparel.

Whether or not woman is jealous of the styles set by mere man, at least she is trying to emulate him in his hectic boudoir habitments. The new woman's pajamas and night gown are shown in colors of the loudest sort. Tangerine, even henna, vie with pinks and blues and yellows. But the most popular of shades is orchid.

It seems to be the floral aspiration of the boudoir lady to look like this exotic flower.

The night robe as well as the chemise worn by Lady Helen Montague are made of indestructible chiffon voile, satin striped, in orchid shades.

Adventures of the Twins

BRUSHES AND BROOMS

THEY GATHERED UP THEIR BROOMS AND BRUSHES

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
The Twins took down the key of the house of the Nuisance Fairies, where Sprinkle-Blow had hung it on a nail, then they gathered up their brooms, and brushes, and rags, and polishes, and crossed the road.

"Look, Nick," cried Nancy, "they see us coming. I was hoping they would all be asleep."

Nick looked up—and behold! Junny Lightning was looking out of one window, Old Man Flood out of another, Old Slazy Dry-Weather out of a third, and indeed at every window in the house appeared the face of a Nuisance fairy staring at them curiously.

"Well," said Nancy, "they'll soon know what we are after, and won't they be pleased to know that we are going to clean house for them!"

"I don't know," answered Nick doubtfully. "They say that Old Man Flood is an elegant scrubber."

"Don't you believe it," declared Nancy. "He's the dirtiest thing Farmer Smith always says he has to clean up after a flood."

The Twins slipped the key into the door softly and stepped inside, slaming it behind them before even wily Jack Frost knew what they were about. "Goodness!" he said to himself with a sheepish grin. "If I'd known that, I'd have slipped out and had some fun. What if it, kiddies? What are all the brushes and brooms and bottles for? You look as though you had just come from Scrub-Up Land."

When the Nuisance Fairies heard the news there was a great hullabaloo. Everybody was pleased and everybody came and shook hands and said couldn't he help and if there was anything he could do just to please mention it.

"No!" Nancy shook her head. "We'll clean upstairs first, and all you need to do is to be very quiet and keep out of our way. We are going to be very busy."

COUNTRY WITHOUT ARMY, NAVY, DEBT OR TAXES

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Sept. 2.—A country without an army, without a navy, without a national debt and without an income tax, where the romance of the South Seas still lives, and where every male reaching the age of 16 years must own eight and one quarter acres of land to sustain his own family—a statute obligation which is fulfilled by a magnanimous government granting him the land gratis.

Such is Tonga, the last remaining native kingdom in the Pacific ocean, according to the description furnished by Tui Vekano, premier of the island, who was here recently.

Premier Vekano said that the people of Tonga are very contented. They have their own monarch, ministry, flag and parliament of seven members elected by the people and an equal number chosen by the nobles or hereditary chiefs.

At the end of last March, Premier Vekano said the kingdom had a surplus of more than 100,000 pounds revenue over its expenditure after paying for all public works.

Males reaching the age of sixteen are granted their land and must plant enough coconuts, yams and other food to contain their families and to pay their educational tax, which prac-

ARRESTED FOR REFUSAL TO INCREASE TAXES

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sheriff's officers in motor cars went to Poplar last evening and visited the residences of the members of the Poplar Borough council, who had refused to comply with an order of the high court requiring them to raise tax rates in accordance with the ruling of the London County council.

Many of the councillors were not at home, but several of them were arrested and conveyed to prison amid sympathetic cheers from the crowds which gathered as soon as it was known that the sheriff's officers were active.

George Lansbury, editor of the Daily Herald, national labor organ, who is a member of the borough council, has not yet been arrested, nor have any of the women members of the council, of whom there are several, but it is expected that all will be imprisoned to-day, as they are not attempting to evade arrest.

There were lively scenes in many parts of London, yesterday. Great demonstrations of unemployed were held, notably at Shoreditch, where a mass meeting rejected a compromise offer made by the board of guardians. At Hackney the police were summoned to deal with a number of workless men who spent the night in the workhouse, but in the morning refused to work out their lodging. Seven of the men were arrested, including the secretary of a local organization, and sentenced to seven days' imprisonment.

CLEVELAND AWAITS FIRST LADY

MAYOR AND MRS. W. S. FITZGERALD.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—Cleveland is waiting to see its "First Lady."

On formal occasions in the past, when it was necessary for Mayor William S. FitzGerald—"bachelor mayor"—to do the honors, it was his mother who ably assisted.

And all that time, busy with her music studies in the east and in Italy, there was a Mrs. FitzGerald that Cleveland—even the intimate friends of the mayor—knew nothing about.

The mayor has just announced that he married three years ago. Mrs. FitzGerald's maiden name was Miss Margaret Chilton Tucker. She is a grandniece of ex-Senator Chilton of Texas.

"We met in Washington when I was there on official business," says FitzGerald. "After a courtship we went to New York and were quietly married. Mrs. FitzGerald's ambition was for a professional musical career. She wanted to continue her studies abroad, so by mutual consent our marriage was kept secret."

Mrs. FitzGerald probably will not come to Cleveland until after the close of her husband's mayoralty campaign this fall.

OBREGON DECLINES TO SIGN TREATY

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—The signing of a treaty with the United States is "neither possible, convenient nor necessary," and is contrary to Mexican constitutional precepts, in that it creates special privileges for Americans," according to that portion of President Obregon's message to congress dealing with foreign relations, which was read in the house last night.

"Mexico has been consolidated and regulated in all parts," says the president's message. "Federal tribunals are functioning, with independence of action, giving all necessary guarantees to foreigners and Mexican citizens; numerous economies have been put into practice, thanks to which the national debt will soon be paid. In a word, all promises are being carried out."

The president's message was a voluminous document and included a consolidated report from all the governmental departments. The reports submitted by the members of the cabinet were unanimously optimistic and frequently alluded to "the perfect harmony and cordiality" existing between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government.

A notice will be sent to all of them to appear at the office of the election commissioners if they wish to have their names again put on the

LANDIS IS CONDEMNED

Accepting Private Employment Censured by American Bar Association

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2.—The action of Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago, national commissioner of baseball, in accepting "private employment and private emolument" while active on the federal bench, was declared to meet with the "unqualified condemnation" of the American Bar Association in a resolution adopted last night.

The resolution was adopted after a stormy debate, in which ex-Senator James Hamilton Lewis counseled against hasty action and moved that the matter be referred to a committee for investigation. He declared that Judge Landis should be accorded a proper hearing before being condemned.

The resolution was drawn late yesterday by the executive committee of the association and was presented by Hampton L. Carson of Philadelphia, former president of the organization.

Requirements for Bar

After a heated debate over adoption of the report of a committee on requirements for admission to the bar, headed by Edgar Root, the Bar association yesterday passed a resolution recommending two years college work and three years in a recognized law school as the minimum requirements for admission to the practice of law.

The recommendations of the committee were offered as a resolution by Mr. Root, who explained that the report was the result of investigation and conferences with prominent lawyers and law educators.

The report was adopted by the Section of Legal Education, where the committee originated, after a stormy session Wednesday. Seeking to defer action until next year, Henry B. Davis of Washington, D. C., offered a substitute resolution after Mr. Root had moved adoption of the report. Mr. Davis declared the conditions "so severely restrictive" and argued that many prominent lawyers in the country would have been barred from practice if such restrictions had been in force when they began their careers.

Found Unfortunate Condition

"We have found an unfortunate condition—one that ought to be remedied," Mr. Root declared in reply. "Shall the bar do nothing? This recommendation may inconvenience some members of this association, but I care more about having the bar secure the effective administration of justice in this disturbed country than I do about their inconvenience."

William A. Metcumb, former attorney general of Indiana, and Edward T. Lee of Chicago, spoke against adoption of the report. Mr. Lee declaring that college today was "largely a place of social diversion," and expressing the belief that men and women would become successful lawyers without a college education.

The recommendations of the report would not bar any lawyer now practicing, William Nathan MacChesney of Chicago said. "Times have changed. The bar should be prepared to go forward and meet certain minimum requirements," he said. "Two years of college work today is no more onerous than a high school course 10 years ago."

The debate was finally ended by the gavel of Chairman Frederick W. Lehman of St. Louis, and the Root resolution was passed.

Reports of sections on criminal law, original jurisdiction, and experimental utility law and others, and of numerous committees were heard by the morning session.

Attacks Centralization

The administration of federal government in the United States was attacked last night by ex-Senator Chas. S. Thomas of Colorado, who declared this country had turned from a "representative republic to a continent democracy."

Encroachment of federal authority on states' rights was criticized by the former senator and federal expenditures were declared a "riot of waste and profligacy which has long disgraced the country's affairs." Republicans and democrats are now meeting upon a common ground, Mr. Thomas said, with "even the tariff a basis for common plunder."

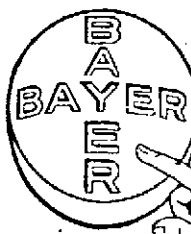

Both the great parties, he said, practiced "identical methods of administration" which has so altered the American government that its transformation is threatened. Public opinion only, he added, could remedy the "sinister conditions" before the country and urged the American bar foster such opinions. The international scope of the Bar association's convention was emphasized last night by the presentation of a "sakadzuki," a Japanese loving cup, to the association by Dr. R. Masujima, in behalf of the Japanese Bar association. Dr. Masujima declared the Japanese bar looked to the American bar as the preceptor of bar associations.

WAR PROFITEERS TO ESCAPE ARREST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The announced criminal prosecution of the war profiteers will never come off. The government is now able to reach only those who committed offenses after Sept. 11, 1918, during the last two months and 11 days of actual hostilities, or subsequent to the signing of the armistice.

Delay in extending the statute of limitations from three to six years has let a big part of the harvest escape the department of justice. Atty. Gen. Daugherty recently requested legislation from congress, but any action after the recess cannot affect the cases on which the present statute has operated.

The bar has been let down and those who did not commit criminal acts after Sept. 11, 1918, are already in the safety zone.

It was made clear at the department yesterday that the profiteers can still be reached through civil action to recover funds taken from the government. Before he requested legislation on the criminal statute of limitations, Mr. Daugherty had precedents investigated and announced that the new law would not be retroactive. By that, it will extend the statute only in cases on which the bar has not already been let down. The legislation, it was stated yesterday, cannot be made to apply to the offenders of any earlier date.

There is no way by which the early war profiteers, whose offenses were committed three years ago, can now be reached under the criminal statutes unless they continued their criminal action through a considerable later period.

Civil action will be resorted to in cases where the evidence taken by the investigating committee of congress and the inquiry by the department of justice under the direction of Col. Guy D. Goff, assistant to the attorney general justifies. Col. Goff said yesterday that the statute which affords the profiteers protection begins to run only from the last overt act. Should congress enact the desired legislation on Nov. 1, profiteers or war grafters who violated the law during the 19 days prior to the armistice or subsequent to it can be reached under the criminal statutes.

Fortunately the government, in the opinion of Mr. Goff, can prosecute for an offense committed more than three years ago if there is a subsequent ofense by the same person upon which the statute of limitations has not run.

NEW STYLE CHECK LIST

Election Department Now

Arranging Voters' Names

by Street and Number

When Lowell voters go to the polls next month to vote on the questions of taking over the gas plant and accepting or rejecting the proposed new charter, they will find a check list much different from that which has been used in previous years.

The election commissioners are now engaged in rearranging their check lists so that the names of voters will be given by streets and numbers instead of alphabetically. For instance, John Smith will no longer find his name grouped with the other names beginning with "S" in his precinct.

If he lives on Merrimack street he will find his name under the heading, "Merrimack street" and to the left will be the number of the house where he lives.

The new system will enable precinct officers to work much more rapidly in handing out ballots to voters and again in checking of a voter's name when he has cast his ballot. Instead of wading through a long list of names, the precinct officer will simply run his finger down the street on which the voter lives until he comes to the number of his house.

The clerks of the election department are now engaged in changing over the list and the job has one of considerable magnitude inasmuch as it involves 36,105 individual names. Not only all voters but women over 20 who are not voters but who are listed by the assessors in accordance with a recent law must be given a place on the new lists.

GENERAL ORDER

FOR GAELIC PARADE

General orders for the Gaelic parade and field day which is to be held in this city and at Spalding park on Labor day were issued this morning at the headquarters of the A.A.R.R. as follows:

The line will form on the South common, right facing on Thorndike street. The parade will be a feature, for there are going to be several moitos and devices carried by the several councils which will attract the attention of the people. The celebrated Irish pipers' band will head the parade, clad in their native costumes. All paraders are requested to carry small American flags.

Officers will lead their own councils where it is possible to do so. Each council is to appoint its own line officers, women members to have the right of line in each council. Line officers are requested to report to the chief marshal not later than 9:15 o'clock. The parade is to move promptly at 10:30 o'clock over the following route: Thorndike to Middlesex, to Gorcham, to Back Central, to Central, to Merrimack square. At Merrimack square the marchers will be dismissed and will then take cars for Spalding park. All other societies are invited to take part in the parade and are directed to fall in behind the councils.

THOMAS F. DELEHANTY, Chief Marshal and Member of General Guiney Council.

HAD LOTTERY TICKETS IN HIS STORE

Joseph Silva, owner of a Moody street fruit store, appeared in the district court this morning in charges of possessing lottery tickets. His case was continued to September 7.

He was arrested last night by Sergeant Winn and Officers Conney, Moore and Linton. It is claimed that he has been selling lottery tickets for some time here, and that a short time ago he bought some $300 worth at $1 each from an agent residing in this city. Silva is said to have expressed the opinion that the agent is in reality a bogus one, printing the tickets in Lowell on his own account.

A foreign printing establishment on the outskirts of the city was raided by the vice and liquor officers in consequence of information obtained from Silva, but nothing of an incriminating nature was discovered. The tickets in the possession of the police are marked "International Lottery Company, New Orleans, La."

Fatal Accident

Gilmes was following in the rear in his automobile. When a police car near Horn street was reached, an automobile came along on the other side of the road towards Chelmsford street. Brooks swung to his right in front of the Gilmes machine and was struck. The automobile after passing over the bicyclist crashed into a tree and was badly damaged.

Brooks was rushed to the Lowell Corporation hospital, but upon his arrival there it was found that he was dead. The remains were later viewed by Medical Examiner T. B. Smith, who stated death was due to a broken neck. The man also sustained fractured ribs.

Mr. Brooks was a popular member of the Lowell Motorboat club and when the accident occurred, he was on his way to the quarters of the club in Eastwick street, where he intended to do some repairs on his motorboat in order to take part in the race, which were scheduled to be held on the Merrimack river, Labor day. He was a machinist by trade and conducted a little shop of his own at 41 Everett street. He leaves a son, Milton Brooks. The body was removed to the funeral parlors of Undertaker W. H. Saunders in Appleton street.

In the automobile accident at the time of the accident were Ralph Hartley, Eliza Hartley, Mabel Nadeau and Nance Nadeau, all residents of Chelmsford.

cloned a few times, but all in fun. Perhaps if the spectators had known how full of fun Mr. Polley is, the hundreds which gathered with bated breath in Merrimack square might not have gasped and felt their heart playing leap with the tensis.

Tonight at 4:30 o'clock the big event will come off. This morning Polley signed a document releasing Manager Flanagan of The Sun building from all responsibility connected with the climb. This was done in the presence of a notary public and constituted the final preliminary to the feat.

Polley stated, after having taken his little jaunt from the ninth story up to the cornice of the building, that The Sun building would be no climb to negotiate, although he has accomplished more difficult climbs.

Call Trotzky's Charge Ridiculous

RIGA, Sept. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—American authorities here declare that the charge made in Moscow by Leon Trotzky that the American intelligence service participated in an alleged plot to assassinate Russian communist leaders, is ridiculous. They say that the announcement of the plot, with an evident campaign on the part of the bolshevik press to connect all outside famine relief measures with political aims, has created some apprehension. The work of the American relief administration in Russia might be affected by the situation, it is declared.

Landis "Too Busy" to Reply

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Judge Keneaw M. Landis announced when he reached his office today, that he was too busy on other matters to consider issuing a statement in reply to the resolution adopted by the American Bar association at Cincinnati, yesterday, in which he was criticized for holding a federal office and his position as baseball commissioner at the same time.

QUEEN ANNIE LOSES HER CROWN

EX-QUEEN ANNIE STANLEY

STICKNEY, Ill., Sept. 2.—A sovereign without a throne—a ruler without scepter or subjects.

She is Annie Stanley, queen of all American gypsies.

Five years ago she ruled, with King Gus Stanley, now dead, over 75,000 followers—a migrating horde who obeyed her command.

And then came the world war with its falling of crowns. The gypsies likewise demanded freedom—and Queen Annie abdicated.

She has laid aside her gold chains of nuggets and is in retirement here. Stickney, during the period of the "gypsy dynasty," was the capital to which all American tribes sent emissaries to pay homage, legislate and receive instruction.

So the ex-queen has decided to spend her last days here. She is 83 years old.

"The war ruined everything for me," she says. "The people all want freedom—but maybe it is for the best."

KITCHEN FOR FEEDING RUSSIAN CHILDREN

AT BAR ASSOCIATION

L. Z. Rosser Discusses Lynchings and Mob Spirit at Convention

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Impartial annihilation of the "whole poisonous," pestilential brood of what generally is called the mob spirit, is the only guaranty of national safety.

Luther Z. Rosser of Atlanta, Ga., told the American Bar association in an address on the illegal enforcement of the law this morning.

Lynching, he said, will cease only when negroes stop their attacks on white women and when the white people reach such a stage of self-control that they can restrain themselves in favor of the law, two things that are too deep-seated to be met by the law alone but must be overcome by an awakening of public conscience and the uplift of the two races.

But lynching, he added, was only one phase of the mob spirit that "is constantly and industriously busy the axe at the root of government."

Labor mobs, though different in their inception and make-up, were declared to be just as inimical to the safety of the nation.

"The labor mob too often is born of deliberation and preparation. It often lives long enough to exert its corrupting influence upon legislation and administration and to secure the universal object of all such mobs.

THE CRAZY QUILT

BY AHERN

THIS SOLDIER SAYS
IT SAVED HIS LIFESPRINGFIELD MAN WAS TWICE
DECORATED FOR BRAVERY ON FIELD OF ACTION

"You can put me down as another ex-soldier who is grateful to Tanlac for saving his life and limb," said John J. Flaherty, a well known employee of the Rolls Royce Automobile company, residing at 654 St. James ave., Springfield, Mass. During the late war Mr. Flaherty won both the British Distinguished Conduct medal and the British Military Medal.

"After being discharged from the British army about three years ago I came to America practically a physical wreck. I had been gassed, my stomach was in a terrible condition and I was about 35 pounds below my normal weight. Ordinary food hurt me so bad I had to live on milk, crackers and a little toast. For days at a time I had a splitting headache that almost drove me wild. I was constantly under treatment for two years, but got worse right on until I was so weak I could hardly walk the little distance to my work.

"Well, there's not a doubt in my mind but that Tanlac has saved my life. From the first doses I began to improve, and now I have gained 15 pounds in weight and am feeling like a new man. I eat heartily of anything I want, and my food agrees with me perfectly. I feel much better and stronger than I have for years, and Tanlac gets all the praise and gratitude for my good health.

"Tanlac being in Lowell by Green's drug store under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative, by Wright Drug Co., Haverhill, Mass.; A. D. Fells, Chelmsford, Mass.; Snow's Pharmacy, Concord, Mass., and by the leading druggist in every town.—Adv.

DON'T KILL YOURSELF
TODAY! WAIT

BY DR. HARRY MARSH WARREN

President of the Save-a-Life League
Put it off. That is the most important thing to do if you feel like taking your own life.

Postpone the act. Decide to live just one more day, anyway.

Next thing: Go and tell your troubles to somebody—preferably a stranger—who will be wise enough to discuss the matter with you calmly.

When you are sick you go to a doctor. When you have a knotty business problem you get an expert accountant. When you have a legal problem you consult a lawyer. Why shouldn't you, before taking the most important step in your life, get advice?

Your troubles may seem to be the worst possible. But somebody else always has greater troubles.

The Save-a-Life league is a free, non-sectarian organization dedicated to the service of those who want to end their lives. We have headquarters at 108 West 7th street, New York. Come and talk with us, or telegraph us or write a letter. It won't cost you anything, and it may save your life.

You need not give your name, or if you do, nobody will know it. I'm a stranger to you and you are a stranger to me—but I would like to be your friend and help you.

I have been asked this question many times: "Why should I not destroy my life if I wish?"

This is my answer to the question: 14 reasons why you shouldn't destroy your life.

One—Because you would be doing the most sinful thing possible.

Two—Because how do you know you will be better off dead than you are now?

Three—Because you would be a coward.

Four—Because you would be a soldier who deserted his post of duty.

Five—Because you would cruelly cause sorrow and humiliation to your family and friends.

Six—Because your life in this world is regarded as a sacred trust.

Seven—Because you should not set such a terrible example before the world.

Eight—Because you would be considered a coward and a quitter.

Nine—Because many have overcome greater obstacles than you have.

Ten—Because you might be unsuccessful—and become an invalid for life.

Eleven—Because if you overcome this temptation you may be able to help others similarly tempted.

Twelve—Because tomorrow may bring you what you most desire.

Thirteen—Because time is short—and you may die any day.

Fourteen—Because as you seriously look at this question from any viewpoint you or anyone can see how wrong it is to take so fearful a risk.

A man's life may be "his own"—but no one has the right to decide for himself the great question of whether he should commit suicide, for a man whose mind is overpowered by grief, sickness or infirmity is in an unfit state to decide.

Tilden to Defend Title Where
He Won His First Cup

HERE IS CHAMPION TILDEN. IN ACTION. AS HE LOOKS TODAY AND AT THE AGE OF NINE, WHEN HE WON HIS FIRST CUP. BUSTS FENCES AND

By Newspaper Enterprise.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—There are days of champions and days of championship matches and such, but the day of days will be when William T. Tilden, tennis champion of the world, plays in the national singles championship tournament, Sept. 3, on the courts of the Germantown cricket club.

It's all a sort of a special tribute to "Big Bill," for it was on these courts that he played his first game of tennis, and now, it's "Bill the Master," who is bringing back with him the world's championship.

He is 25 and has been playing the game since he was six. Just 20 years ago he won his first cup in a tennis tournament.

Near His Home

His home is just across the street from the cricket club.

When he is not touring the seven seas, winning laurels and world championships for America, Tilden lives with his aunt, Miss Elizabeth M. Hey, and his cousin, Miss S. G. Hey, and during the coming championship matches "open house" will be the order of the day at the Hey home.

"Of course," we're proud of Bill," said Miss Hey, the cousin. "We're proud of his success as a tennis player, and we're proud of all the cups and other honors that have been accorded him, not forgetting by any means this little cup," and Miss Hey held up the small silver cup that the champion won 20 years ago—his first tennis cup.

Hasn't Changed

"But we're more proud of him because he is the same Bill Tilden today that he was 20 years ago. He's as natural and as modest, with all the honors that have been showered upon him, as he was when he first began playing tennis across the way there," and Miss Hey pointed through the open door to a vine-covered wall that surrounded the grounds of the cricket club.

YANKEES NOW IN LEAD

Ousted Cleveland by Double Victory Over Washington Yesterday

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The New York Yankees climbed into the lead in the American league by a double victory over Washington yesterday, while Cleveland was losing a hard-fought 12-inning battle to Detroit. The Pittsburgh Nationals, though retaining their first place position, suffered a double defeat and the New York Giants, despite a contest lost to Brooklyn, gained a half game on Pirates. The two rivals in each league are tied on games won but each runner-up has dropped two games more than the leader.

FIRST GAME OF BIG SERIES TOMORROW

Plans for the big three game series between Louis Lord's Highland Daylights, runners-up in the Twilight League, and the C. M. A. C. were completed at a meeting of the rival managers held last night.

The first game will be played on the Textile campus tomorrow afternoon, the second game on Monday, and the third if necessary at a date to be arranged later.

The managers posted lists of players to be used in the series and no other's will be allowed to participate. The Highland Daylights, who got away to a rather bad start at the opening of the Twilight league season, were gradually strengthened by Manager Lord, and in the final stages of the league race, the team was looked upon as one of the best ever organized in this city.

Long John Smith, who pitched many winning games for the team, will be in the box tomorrow. It is expected that Hubert, who pitched a sensational game against the Broadways last Saturday, will work for the C. M. A. C. The game will start at 3.15 o'clock.

SCOTT PLAYS IN 800
CONSECUTIVE GAMES

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—When Captain Everett Scott of the Red Sox takes the field as shortstop today against Philadelphia, he will have played in 800 consecutive major league games. His continuous play, long since a record, started June 20, 1916. If world Series contests and exhibition games were included, it would be at least 800 games greater.

The modern record for continuous play was held formerly by Fred Luderus of the Philadelphia Nationals, who in 1919 completed 593 consecutive games. The longest known previous record of organized baseball, 577 games without a break, was made by George Pinkney of the Brooklyn American association team over a period from 1885 to 1890.

BOOTT MILLS TO MEET CHELMSFORD A. A.

The Boott mills baseball team will cross bats with the Chelmsford A. A. at the high school grounds in Chelmsford Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Both teams have established a reputation for snappy play thus far this season and many fans have already expressed an intention to see this game which promises to be a hummer in every respect. All players of the Boott team are requested to report at Merrimack square at 1.30.

BUSTS FENCES AND
BASEBALL HEARTS

KENNETH WILLIAMS

By Newspaper Enterprise.
St. Louis, Sept. 2.—Here in St. Louis, where the Browns fuss around with baseball, they have a flyweight in the heavy class.

One Kenneth Williams, game buster. He's a midget in the horse-hide realm, and from appearances, one would rather lay him down as a champion bunter.

But he's got a nasty habit. He smacks the ball for four sacks right when the opposition seems to have the game sewed up.

So far this season he has pecked out twenty homers and has caused twenty times that much grief.

SAVAGE TO REFEREE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Jim Savage of Jersey City was selected yesterday to referee the world's middleweight championship bout Labor Day between Johnny Wilson of Boston and Bryan Downey of Cleveland. Savage was an alternate referee for the Dempsey-Carpentier contest.

A ton of coal produces 10,000 feet of gas.

STRONG HEADED, AS 'TWERE!

After Al Ritcheher, of Boston, eats breakfast and feels like taking a little exercise, he bends an iron bar, or two, over his head. Then if he feels in need of more exercise he has his wife and sister hang from the ends of a bar, as you see them here on the Boston Common.

LOWELL VS. MALDEN

Stage Set for Big K. of C. Battle at Spalding Park Tomorrow

The stage is all set for one of the best baseball battles of the season tomorrow afternoon at Spalding park when Manager "Nasty" Coughlin's K. of C. team lines up against the Malden Knights of Columbus. Manager Coughlin's men have had it comparatively "soft" in their last few games but tomorrow afternoon they will line up against a line that is bound to put up a stiff fight.

More than ordinary interest is attaching to the coming of the Malden aggregation inasmuch as the assistant manager and treasurer of the outfit is Frank Rogers, a former Lowell man and brother of the late Geo. Rogers who gave up his life in the world war, the first Lowell man to die at sea in the great conflict.

Rogers still has a warm spot for the Spalding City but once his team gets on the field Saturday afternoon all affections for his home town will be forgotten and he will fight tooth and nail for a Malden victory. The Malden players will be accompanied by a crowd of 200 rosters, armed with plenty of noisemakers to rattle the local "Casseys."

The lineup of the visiting aggregation will be as follows:

E. Urann ss, Rowe 2b, Leary rf, Coughlin c, Cronin 1b, G. Urann c, Cassell lf, Berube 3b, and Mullaney, Wright or Queen p.

Manager Coughlin will send in his usual strong team with Jimmy Davidson once more on the mound. The game will be called at 3.15 and there will be special car service to the grounds.

The Malden Knights claim 25 victories so far this season, some of them against the strongest nines in the state. If the Lowell team succeeds in winning, Manager Coughlin will claim the state championship and will meet all legitimate disputants of the claim.

Manager Coughlin announced today that notwithstanding reports to the contrary his lineup will be the same as that of last Saturday. He also stated that as Bob Keeler is away on his vacation he has secured Dan Barry, the Boston baseball expert, who played here seven years ago with the St. Patrick's sanctuary choir team, to come here and umpire.

TENNIS CLASSIC FOR THE
DAVIS CUP

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The international tennis classic for the Davis cup starts today on the courts of the West Side club, with William M. Johnston of San Francisco facing Ichiji Kumagata of Japan in the first of a three-day series of matches. This play was scheduled for 2.30 o'clock and was to be followed at 4 o'clock by singles between William T. Tilden 2nd, of Philadelphia, world's champion, and Zen Shimizu.

The Japanese pair won the right to contest in the challenge round by battling through an elimination contest with teams of 11 other nations. The team they meet today, including in addition to Johnston and Tilden, R. Norris Williams 2nd, of Boston and Watson M. Washburn of New York as a double combination, is the same quartet that brought the cup back from Australia last winter.

Forward Pass With Shovel;
Hit Dirt With Pick

By ROY GROVE.

Meikle played end last season, with Carnegie Tech, and Wallace was in the backfield with the University of Illinois eleven. Both are stars.

They won enviable reputations on the collegiate gridiron, because they weren't afraid to get into a ditch and dig during the off-season when there was no sideline crowd to applaud. A forward pass with a shovel and hitting the dirt with a pick is their regular summer work. They prepare.

In any sport the biggest stars are the men who go through grueling work of preparation before their public appearance.

WILLARD! HO, HUK!
And now big Jess Willard throws down his oil derricks and wants to play with the boxing gloves again. Ho, huk!

Makes a lot of cracks about Dempsey and cold kayoes and such like.

And even the hero of Boyle's Thirty Acres sits up and looks around. Let Mahomet keep away from the mountain. And let the mountain go out in the highways and fall on a lot of lesser fistic stars to prove that it still has its one-time landslide abilities before the mountain even considers going near Mahomet.

SUPERSTITION
The Pittsburgh Pirates had a group picture taken of the team.

Someone happened to mention, as the photographer moved away, that for a whole team to watch the little birdie at once was a flax.

Whereupon the Pittsburghers went out and lost five straight games to the Giants. Right in the midst of a crochical pennant race.

It doesn't prove that flax exists. But it does prove that to imbue a man, or a team of men, with the idea that they can't win a ball game generally means that they won't win. For their pep and enthusiasm have been stolen.

PIPER'S WIN BRIMMING "CUP O' KINDNESS"

Major General John W. Stewart, hero of the World war and millionaire railroad builder, presenting to the Clan McLean pipers of Vancouver, B. C., his much coveted "cup o' kindness," a silver trophy for which the Canadian Scotch Highland bands of musicians compete every year. Incidentally—the cup presented by General Stewart was filled to the brim with old Scotch whiskey and every loyal clansman had the opportunity of pledging allegiance anew to the traditions of Auld Scotia.

AMERICAN DERBY
FOR WHIPPETS

HAMILTON, Sept. 2.—Whippets racing for a national championship at a rate of 100 yards in six seconds, was the spectacle at the Myopia Hunt club today. It was the second annual American derby for whippets, small dogs, long and lithe of limb, that run like the wind.

Animals from Canada and from this country were brought to the line for the test at the derby distance of 200 yards. Two of them have been without defeat. Man-o-war, owned by Stanley Grimshaw of Toronto, has coursed across the fields in Canada always in front. Tommy, owned by James Gilligan of Lawrence, also has won every race, both against the speedy whippets which are the pets of the mill operatives in that city and in competitions with the better bred animals of the millionaire colony here.

Sunshine, the present champion, a mile of a dog weighing only 13 pounds and Bayard Tuckerman's Black Prince, which like Tommy and Man-o-war weighs 15 pounds, were other leading entries among 14 championship contenders.

The derby is a three heat race from standing starts. The record for the 200 yards is 12.2 seconds but 12 seconds was regarded as well within the possibilities of the four dogs mentioned.

GAELIC ASSOCIATION
TO CHANGE QUARTERS

At the regular meeting of the Lowell Gaelic association, held last evening at Trades and Labor hall in Central street, it was decided to acquire permanent quarters in upper Central st. It was also voted to participate in the parade which is to be one of the features of the great field day to be held at Spalding park on Labor day.

THE AMERICAN VENUS

MISS MARIE LANDSON

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 2.—Here's a new Venus.

She has the distinction of not being a movie actress, a dancer or an artist model.

She is just a beautiful girl with a figure which Edward Broulard, famous New York artist, says is as perfect as that of the mythical Venus. She is Miss Marie Landson of Cambridge.

Broulard is a graduate of the L'Ecole Nationale des Beaux Arts, of Versailles, France. He has taken Miss Landson's measurements and, after consulting with other French artists, has requested her to come to New York in the fall to pose as "The American Venus."

Miss Landson says there are some parental objections to her posing as Venus.

It is not her ambition to become an artist model, but she would like to be "done in marble" as "The American Venus."

"Mr. Broulard took my measurements," Miss Landson says, "when I was sent to him by a friend some three ago. He expressed amazement. He says I am perfect because my height is ten times the length of my hand, and seven and a half times the length of my foot. The distance from my elbow to the tip of the middle finger is the same as from the elbow to the middle line of the breast. From the top of my head to the level of my chin is the same as from the level of my chin to my ankles."

Girls, how do your proportions compare with these?

WRECK AIDS ROMANCE

MRS. LAURENCE HICKAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Love emerged from terror in the season's worst shipwreck on the Pacific coast. For two years Laurence Hickam, railroad man and former lieutenant in the aviation service, had courted Miss Florence O'Brien of Portland, Ore., but progress was slow. Miss O'Brien took passage on the Alaska, which sank on Hunt's reef with loss of many lives. During the tense moments of waiting for a lifeline, realization came to her of what a strong man's guidance means in such moments. When she reached shore, her belongings lost, she wiped Hickam's discovery. He caught the next train and 24 hours after he arrived she was Mrs. Hickam.

Wash soiled alabaster with soap and water. Whitewash the stained parts and let stand several hours. Then wash off the whitewash and rub the stained parts with a soft pannel.

THE CHARM OF A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

And How To Attain It

To be attractive—to be admired—is the secret desire of every woman, but few know how to attain this accomplishment.

First, it is necessary to remove all blemishes—tan, sun and freckles, dark, yellow spots, liver blotches and pimples—and bring a pink glow of life to the skin.

Black and White Beauty Bleach will remove almost all embarrassing blemishes, and make the skin clear, soft and beautiful tinted. Black and White Soap will preserve the complexion.

Black and White Beauty Bleach is a delightfully perfumed, pink tinted cream. When applied it forms an invisible coating over the skin. Beauty Bleach does away with tedious hours before your mirror or in the beauty parlor.

City and mail this ad to Black and White, Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn., for free literature and samples of Black and White Increase of Flowers Talcum and Face Powder.

TO REDUCE DANGEROUS VARICOSE VEINS

People who have swollen veins or bunches should not wait until they reach the bursting point, which means much suffering and loss of time, but should at once secure the reliable drugist a two-ounce original bottle of Moene's Emerald Oil (full strength). By using this powerful, yet harmless, germicide treatment improvement is noticed in a few days and by its regular use, swollen veins will return to their normal size, and sufferers will cease to worry. Moene's Emerald Oil treatment is used by physicians and in hospitals and is guaranteed to accomplish results or money returned.

It reduces all kinds of enlarged glands, gotters and wens and is used exclusively in many large factories as an unfailing first aid to the injured and as a cure for sore throat. It contains 15 cents, silver or stamps. International Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y., Your druggist or Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White. With any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Parasitic stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

TO SELL WELBECK ABBEY

England's Great Estates

Crumbling Under Weight of Taxes and Death Duties

LONDON, Sept. 2.—England's great estates are crumbling under the weight of taxation and death duties and one big landed proprietor after another among the nobility is dividing and selling his holdings, many of which have been in the hands of single families for centuries.

The latest indication that peers are finding it necessary to seek smaller homes comes in the announcement of the Duke of Portland that he may have to abandon his palatial mansion, Welbeck Abbey, in Nottinghamshire. This is only one of the residences of the Duke who owns some 200,000 acres in England.

"For centuries past landed estates have been handed down from generation to generation," said the duke, addressing his tenants on the occasion of the coming of age of his son, Lord Francis Cavendish. "Landlords and tenants have lived on terms of mutual trust and affection. I fear, however, that the state of things is passing away for with the present weight of taxation and the extremely onerous incidence of death duties, the future may become very uncertain for all landed proprietors. If this is good for the country, I certainly do not complain."

"With regard to my own case, it may or may not be possible for me and my family to continue to reside at Welbeck, but I fear that there can be little doubt that those who come after me will not be able to do so."

On all sides historic houses are finding new tenants and ancient families are severing their connection with the soil.

The Duke of Devonshire sold Devonshire House in 1919 and Stowe House, the property of Baroness Kinloss, was disposed of recently.

Others who have sold their properties recently include the Duke of Bedford, the Duke of Westminster, the Duke of Rutland, the Duke of Grafton, the Duke of Marlborough, Lord Leconfield, Lord Camden, Marquis de Castella, Earl Beauchamp, Earl Bradford, Lord Aberdeen, Lord Lovat, Lord Harrington, Lord Hinchinbrook, the Countess of Warwick and Sir Richard Bulkeley.

Welbeck Abbey is famous for the subterranean passages and apartments built by the Duke of Portland at a cost of £3,000,000 in order to hide himself from observation by the outside world.

The abbey has an underground riding school 400 feet long, 106 feet wide and 50 feet high, capable of holding 10,000 persons.

There is a subterranean ballroom 188 feet long, 63 feet wide and 21 feet high, the walls of which are hung with famous paintings.

Both the riding school and the ballroom are connected with the abbey by a series of tunnels.

Other features are a large subterranean library and a tan bark course for galloping horses. It is a quarter of a mile long entirely covered in with glass. Altogether there are about 15 miles of tunnelling.

ROBBED HAIR, ETC. AS OLD AS PYRAMIDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Robbed hair, concealed ears, short skirts and all the other fads and follies associated with modern women's styles are as old as the pyramids, according to the mute story told by the mummies of both Egypt and Peru in the Field Museum.

Wrapped in their pitched shrouds and encased in sarcophagi covered with curious paintings and hieroglyphs in colors still bright after three thousand years and more, these mummies, all that was mortal of a human being of ages ago, today link the present to a civilization long since dead.

The daily centre of thousands of curious eyes, the mummies seem to hold a strange fascination for every visitor to the museum, they are silent spectators of the passing throngs, but the paintings which adorn their resting places tell more plainly than words of strange customs and manners of a forgotten age.

"Why, ma, they're dressed just like the girls we see on Michigan Boulevard," exclaimed an aged visitor to his wife as he gazed at the strange figures adorning the sarcophagi.

It appears like they did not wear a bit more than they do now," the woman answered as the pair moved away.

It is a far cry from the Nile of Cleopatra's day to the Pacific coast of Peru in South America, but mummies from both regions lying along almost within reach of each other now, but in life ignorant of each other's existence, bear graphic evidence of the greatest similarity and proficiency in many arts at a time when the Norsemen were ravaging all of southern Europe and the old world had almost sunk into barbarism. Dr. J. Allen Mason, assistant curator of Mexican and South American anthropology at the museum, has prepared an outline of the known history of the Peruvian mummies.

Both wove cloths in every weave known to the modern textile artist and made in some cases finer than are duplicated today by the most mechanical means and the most skilled artisans. Their pottery is unsurpassed even today in its type and their work in gold and copper challenges the modern craftsman. Unlike the Egyptians, the Peruvians used no process of embalming, but so dry were the sands of the coastal deserts that the dry bodies with their wrappings around them, have been preserved perfectly to this day with the objects placed around them.

Near the town of Ancon on the coast of Peru was found the greatest cemetery of these people. A great desert waste, no evidence of occupation is seen on the surfaces. Even when the first Spanish conqueror passed this way in 1532 every vestige of human occupation had entirely disappeared and the location of the town was quite forgotten. It was not until about seventy years ago that the first graves were discovered. For half a century they have yielded fortunes to treasure seekers who despoiled them to recover the golden ornaments left beside the bodies.

And now the mummies of both of these peoples tell of strange similarities in style, arrangement, manners and industries to those of the present generation. It is a linking of the past to the present which holds a peculiar attraction for the mummies, lying in silent state, are the most popular exhibit for the thousands of visitors who daily crowd the museum.

CHILDREN INJURED IN LAKEVIEW AVENUE

Sumner Kenney, aged 4, son of Patrolman and Mrs. William J. Kenney of 196 Ludlum street, is at St. John's hospital suffering from a fractured leg as a result of an automobile accident which occurred late yesterday afternoon in Lakeview avenue. The boy's little sister is confined to the home of her parents with minor injuries. The children with an older relative were on their way to Lakeview and were given a ride in an automobile in order to overtake the electric car, which had pulled out ahead of them. The driver of the auto, so it is said, stopped his machine in front of the electric car which occurred late yesterday after-

Chinese Cinderella Refuses to Forsake Laundry for Film Fame

ANNA MAY WONG

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—The well-known fairy prince is going to have a hard time persuading Anna May Wong that the gilded slipper of movie-dom can bring her more happiness than work in her father's little Chinese laundry.

Anna May, 16-year-old Celestial "Cinderella" of the studios, twinkles before the screen by day, and presides at the ironing-board at night.

Well on her pretty way to fame, she says she will forego the promised career without a sigh if it means that her parents may lose pleasure or profit by her going.

Enters Fairyland
Movieland to Anna May holds all the thrills that fairyland offers her occidental sisters. Handsome lovers shower her with attentions. Beautiful clothes adorn her slender form. Jewels sparkle from her jet black hair. Motor cars are at her beck and call. The thrill of the drama makes her forget that the camera is recording all this for the benefit of an amusement-loving public.

All this until $30. Then her handsome suitors go home to their wives and babies, her jewels are placed in the studio safe overnight, her beautiful clothes are taken back to the property room.

Anna May pays the conductor five cents and trolley-cars to the home above her father's laundry. Here there are books of the little laundry shop to be kept, and many shirts to be pinned before they are wrapped to await the call of customers.

In Laundry Home

Anna May Wong in her laundry home looks just as she does on the screen. The poet would say that she stole the color of her face from a poppy, and that of her hands from a gardenia.

Anna May Wong is a discovery of Marshall Neilan. It was while hunting for types for his production of "Dinty" that Neilan discovered her, and after much inducement persuaded her father to allow her to forsake her shirt-pinching activities for the screen—at least during the day. Since then Anna May has played many good parts, for besides being an excellent "type," she has unusual talent. Her most recent effort was a co-star part opposite Lon Chaney in "Bits of Life." She has not yet been convinced that her studio work is greater than her duties to her family. If she can achieve a motion picture reputation and still attend to her father's affairs, she will always be happy. If not, then her motion picture career must go, for filial devotion is inborn in the Chinese heart of Anna May.

SOUND-PROOF ROOMS FOR ARTISTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Sound-proof rooms for nervous artists are the latest in New York hotel service. One manager has installed one on the top floor of his hotel for the use of artist guests and the innovation has become so popular that reservations for its use have to be made several days in advance.

Engineers, composers and actors and an occasional versifier have found there the noiseless atmosphere so stimulating to the artistic imagination. High C or any other soaring note may be reached for by the singer without fear that a whirling pneumatic riveter next door will break in and spoil the performance.

Not the merest shadow of a sound can sneak in to play the mischief when the creative artist is engaged in cultivating the muse. Nerves jangled by the clamor and strain of city life are soothed by silence and patrons of the sound-proof room say they don't see how they ever endured noise before.

There are no windows in the room and the door is of the ice-box type. The room is ventilated by means of special devices which noiselessly let in fresh air and draw out the used air in the same manner.

Experiment proved that no ordinary noise could begin to penetrate the specially constructed walls of the room. The walls just stifled the noise before it even got started. A lusty yell in the outside corridor died in the partition before reaching the stage of adolescence. Even a squad of window washers with rattly stepladders and jangling tin buckets failed to register on the calm inside the room.

A mob of angry janitors throwing empty ash cans in an area-way was suggested as the supreme test of the noise-smothering qualities of the apartment but the builders claimed that wasn't necessary.

Several delicate spirits who claimed they couldn't find any place in the city where they could hear themselves think have made reservations of the room. The furnishings are simple. A few creaklers chairs luxuriously upholstered and a heavy study table rest on a thick carpet in which the feet sink without a sound. A grand piano stands in one corner. The walls and ceiling are done in a flat dove-gray without a bit of color of any kind to disturb the quiet neutrality of the room's atmosphere.

FOR FRYING

Refers Dispute to League Assembly

GENEVA, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—The council of the League of Nations today decided to refer the entire dispute among Albania, Greece and Yugoslavia to the assembly of the league for settlement. Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the National City bank of New York, Charles R. Crane, former United States minister to China, and David Hunter Miller arrived at Geneva today and were being shown the workings of the league.

Smith & Wesson Plant to Remain Closed

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 2.—Smith & Wesson, pistol manufacturers, today announced a delay of a month in the reopening of their plant, which has been closed since July 15. It had been expected to resume operations September 6, but prevailing business conditions necessitated the change. The Rolls-Royce of America, Inc., last night announced a delay of three of four weeks beyond September 6, for resumption of activities. The slowness of deliveries of automobile bodies by coach builders is said to be the chief reason.

Moorish Tribesmen Attack Spaniards

MADRID, Sept. 2.—Moorish tribesmen attacked two Spanish outposts near Melilla yesterday, it was said in a private despatch received from there. The attack was said to be most vigorous on one post. The Moors used hand-grenades. The conflict continued many hours. After darkness searchlights were thrown on the enemy. Yesterday a column of troops under General Sanjurjo attacked the rebels and inflicted severe casualties.

Turks Sign Treaty With France

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 2.—The treaty between the Turkish nationalists and France, recently revised, has been signed, despatches from Angora said. The new accord was made necessary when the Turkish government took exception to several features of the original agreement, negotiated in Paris by Bekir Sami, former minister of foreign affairs of the Angora government. Fifty Frenchmen who were held prisoners by the Turks have been taken to an Asia Minor seaport for repatriation.

"Tiger" Defends Work of Drafting Treaty

AJACCIO, Corsica, Sept. 2.—Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France, defended his work in the drafting of the Versailles treaty between the allies and Germany, in an address at Sartena, yesterday. He said: "I stand by the treaty of Versailles. It may not be perfect, but it will give genuine satisfaction, to France if its conditions are carried out. If revisions are necessary they should be accepted only if compensations are made."

State of War in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 2.—Nicaragua has been for nearly 10 days operating under a government declaration that a state of war has existed. The republic is overrun by government forces, schools are closed and salaries of government employes have been reduced. Concrete reports of any enemy worthy of the name being in the field, however, are entirely missing.

Turks and Greeks in Fierce Battle

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press).—Turkish nationalist forces fighting a desperate battle against Greeks in the loop of the Sakaria river in Asia Minor, are withdrawing toward Angora. Both sides have suffered heavily but the Turks were outnumbered, being able to bring only 17 divisions into battle against the entire Greek army.

THE CHARTER DEFECTS

The time is at hand when the voters who have an earnest desire for better city government, and who believe that the city has a definite, should familiarize themselves with the provisions of the new charter and the particular points in which it is very likely to improve upon the present form of government.

Many people will say that it matters little what kind of a charter you have, that it all depends upon the men you elect. That statement is true only when you elect first class men and it has been used very ingeniously to disarm prejudice and overcome opposition directed against the new charter. It is a fact, that if you have first class men elected, they will exercise good business judgment and keep things right even in spite of a bad charter. But, if the men elected are inexperienced, a charter that provides a wrong method of doing business will muddle them and the city's business will suffer. Such a charter very frequently causes men of good intentions to do things which militate against the interests of the city.

The first and most prominent defect of the present charter is that it unites the legislative and administrative functions of government in the same officials. For example, the present commissioners constitute the only legislative body in the city, and they are at the same time the heads of the administrative departments. That is a wrong principle of government that has been discredited and condemned since the earliest days of written constitutions, and the application of practical methods in the government of municipal politics. Under the new charter the municipal council will be vested with the powers of legislation only, and the mayor will be given executive authority sufficient to enforce the laws of the city, and the city council will be the only body that will be elected by the city council. He, however, as chief executive, will have a veto power over the acts of the council which, however, can be overcome at any time by a two-thirds vote. Our present mayor is really but a commissioner same as the other members of the council, and the title of "mayor" seems to give him but a social or honorary distinction.

In the present council the interests of the city are submitted to the will and the judgment of three members, or a majority of the entire council of five members. The new charter will have five members, of which eight will form a majority. It is quite probable that the business of the city will be safer in the hands of eight men elected by the people than if submitted to three of the same class. We are told that there is safety in numbers and in the present case, this seems to apply with special force to the form of our city charter. Another defect in the charter is that the commissioners are elected without preference to any particular department; and consequently it happens that occasionally some of them are assigned to departments for which they have no qualifications whatsoever. Under the new charter every department will be under a competent superintendent who will be held strictly accountable for results by the mayor and the city council. Such superintendent may be suspended by the mayor or ousted if the municipal council so votes. That arrangement will insure good men and will hold them strictly responsible for the management of their respective departments.

One of the things that has actually discredited the present charter, is the desperate scramble that has been made to secure election to the office of commissioner, because of the salary attached. It is this exciting campaign that has prevented business men from becoming candidates for the council. No business man who cares anything for his reputation would enter the contest for commissioner under the present charter, for the reason that he knows he would be assailed right and left by the mud-slinging electioneers. The new charter, in order to overcome this evil, provides a nominal salary of $300, which will barely pay election expenses. It is not expected that there would be any such heated contest for the commissioners under the new arrangement. The chief contest under the new charter would come for the office of mayor and a salary of $5,000 in that case, should induce fairly good men to seek the office.

The new charter is chiefly concerned with the city department and nobody in particular responsible for the welfare of the city in general. It is but reasonable to assume that the city will not be able to grasp its opportunities for advancement as readily as it should. This explains another great defect of the present commission government. It is really more a lack of the proper system than of first class men, but when both these faults come together at the same time, as is liable to be the case, the result is highly detrimental to our city.

These are a few of the fundamental defects of our present charter with a few of the contrasting points or improvements provided by the new charter to be submitted to the people for acceptance or rejection on October 18. It is to be hoped that every citizen will study the entire subject of charter reform before that date so as to be able to vote intelligently for the best interest of the city.

TEN MONTHS DRY

An announcement has been made that a ten months' campaign for the enforcement of the dry law will be launched in Indiana to wind up in New England. An Indiana corporation, formed under the guidance of the late J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, will be the chief force in the "dry" campaign. After a swing through Indiana, the group of flying squadrons will enter other states and wind up in New England. Oliver W. Steward, president of this flying squadron foundation, appears to have full confidence of attaining great results from this campaign. He appears to think that the liquor traffic can be combated by public meetings, speeches and special police force to attract attention. He will find that where his squadron is operating, the business will be low, but as soon as it passes, the business of importing, distilling and selling liquor will be resumed and go on same as usual. The federal officials apparently make the mistake of assuming that political methods will accomplish practical results. Nothing but continuous and active work by men who are on the ground all the time, can cope with the men who are carrying on the liquor business. The foreigners and others who are putting out a little home brew, will be pulled in, but the real culprits, the importers who ride in the automobiles and employ a lot of boot-leggers are seldom disturbed. Our federal officials apparently have not yet hit upon an effective method of enforcing the law. They should at least consider it their duty to stop the import from the Canadian border and from the phantom ships that hover beyond the three-mile limit. The flying squadron campaign will be regarded as a joke by the men engaged in the liquor business and making money fast through importation and sale of alcoholic liquors.

GOOD WORK BY FIRE DEPT.

We feel it our duty to give Chief Saunders his due meed of praise for the splendid work he did in combating the very dangerous fire in a lumber yard side by side with the oil tanks of the Standard Oil company. One of the tanks had caught fire and a terrible explosion was imminent a few minutes after the alarm was sounded, but quick as a flash Chief Saunders realized the danger and at once directed all the streams necessary to the tanks in order to keep them sufficiently drenched to prevent them from exploding. That point was accomplished and the fire was kept from spreading beyond the lumber storehouse in which it started—an achievement that reflects great credit upon the department. The fire was in a corner surrounded by railroad tracks and obstructions that made access very difficult, but it is one of the main pastimes of Chief Saunders to make himself quite familiar with the danger districts and how to get at all the worst fire hazards in Lowell. This knowledge counted for much in his prompt and highly effective mode of fighting Wednesday night's spectacular fire and in all probability saving the city from a devastating conflagration.

AIDING THE ARTISTS

The impoverished condition of the so-called intellectuals—authors and such—throughout Europe, as one of the war's results, is challenging the attention of the government. They realize that man does not live by bread alone and that the spiritual and intellectual aspects of reconstruction are as important as the material aspects. The Swiss government has pointed the way by appropriating $200,000 for the relief of needy Swiss authors, many of whom are barely able to exist on their earnings. It seems that it is the custom of Swiss authors to deal with German publishers. They were paid in German marks which were exchanged for Swiss francs leaving them a mere pittance for their work.

LANGUAGE OF DIPLOMACY

There will be two official languages at the Washington disarmament conference—English and French. The official announcement has not been made, but it soon will be. The tentative suggestion was made unofficially a few weeks ago, that the proceedings could be much simplified if only one language—English—was used. The French people reacted instantly to the suggestion by demanding through their newspapers that their language, the official language of diplomacy, also be used. The pressure on Premier Briand became so strong that he has announced that under no circumstances could the French government take part in a conference at which the French language was not admitted as an official language.

LABOR SHORTAGE

Hawaii is one of the few places in the world, if not the only one, where there is a labor shortage during these times of world-wide depression. The scarcity there is so acute that the loss of half the sugar crop is threatened because of inability to harvest it. Unless the situation can be relieved before October the sugar planters face a loss of between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000.

The reason Washington has been appealed to permit a suspension of the law excluding the Chinese so that 25,000 of them may be brought in. We had supposed that Hawaii was overrun with Japanese.

THE STANDARD DOLLAR

Italy has officially recognized that America has taken the place of Great Britain as the world's financial center by changing from the pound sterling to the gold dollar as the basis of the Italian gold lira. The reason, unofficially stated, is that "dollars are real money, the best money in the world." This is rather jarring to British pride, but these are days in which governments as well as individuals must deal in realities instead of traditions. And certainly the British pound sterling as the basis of international exchange values is now a thing of the past.

Those who are out of work just at present may find some consolation in the evidence of improvement in business reported from many Massachusetts cities. New Bedford mills are working full time; those of Fall River nearly so, and there are signs of better things ahead in Lowell.

The Ford Motor company is credited with $14,695,990 in the bank, according to a financial statement filed with the government, which shows that the flivver is still a money-making proposition.

Surely the West Virginia Insurgent miners will obey the order of Uncle Sam and retire to their homes. But it is a little difficult to see how they can, after all the trouble they have caused and both sides brought under strict compliance with the law.

Senator Pate of Vermont, now 70 years old, says he will retire when his term expires next March. After the turmoil of a political or a kind of life, there is no place like the haven of home.

Those who are so anxious to turn a few dollars over to the working man should not throw away $5,000 on a special election that might otherwise be used for his benefit.

BIG DEMONSTRATIONS OF UNEMPLOYED

LONDON, Sept. 2.—Demonstrations in which many thousands of London's unemployed participated, occurred last night, and marked the culminating point of the unrest among the idle which has prevailed here during the past fortnight. Several members of the borough council of Poplar, a section of London, were arrested and lodged in Brixton prison for refusing to raise the tax rates, in accordance with an order from the London county council, which had taken action to raise funds to care for the destitute. The arrest of the remainder of the council members, some of them women, was expected today.

The Woolwich board of guardians was asked by a deputation of a monster demonstration to pay 25 shillings a week to each unemployed man and wife, with an additional dose of eight shillings for each child. Demand was also made that rents should not be collected from men out of work. These demands were rejected by the board. Several men who had spent Wednesday night in a workhouse in Blackney, refused to leave in the morning. They were arrested and later sentenced to a week's imprisonment.

Belief was expressed today that a royal commission would be created to inquire into taxes and equalization of rates for the relief of the poor.

Fearful and Wonderful

Prohibition is variously circumvented sometimes by sale of "the real stuff," sometimes otherwise. Some fearful and wonderful products are being consumed at the consumer's risk. The toughest case we have heard of was reported by a Chelsea man, who says that an acquaintance of his, of an experimental turn of mind and of great courage, after sampling all the home-made beverages of his neighborhood, bought a drink from a stranger. Against his friend's advice, he drained the bottle. Next day a friend asked him how the strange drink had worked.

"It worked all right—I can't complain," said the adventurer. "I liked it all right, even if it was kind of hot. But funny thing is, I've been blowing holes in my handkerchief all day today."—Boston Herald.

A Provident Man

"Is your husband good at providing Milandy?" "He isn't 'nuthin' else, ma'am. He givine git some new furniture, providin' he gits de money; he givine to git de money providin' he go to work; he go to work providin' he git de job dat suits him. I never see such a providin' man in all mah days."

One day when Milandy returned to her neat cottage home, she found her husband had actually "provided" a big surprise. The tiny house of two rooms and kitchen had electric lights and the surprise was an electric washer.

"I done got a job dat suits me, Milandy," explained her husband, "wir a 'lectric store and I done tuk dis yer washer for you sids or wages, so as to ease up washday."

Milandy now does all her work electrically. Her husband "provides" the wash.—Lawrence Telegram.

Some Time Measurers

"How can we measure time?" the ancients said. "We cannot see it, yet we know 'tis fled. As a swift arrow from the bow is sped."

Thus sun-dials began soon to appear. But useless they unless the ray was clear, And shadows could be cast by sun-shine here.

Then hour-glasses, filled with grains of sand, Were tried, but they attention did demand. To often turn: so something must be planned.

Which would both measure time, and yet not be dependent on the light, but leave men free From care to turn a glass the time to see.

So clock and watches now have come to stay. To teach us mortal how time slips away. And show tomorrow soon will be to-day.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

The announcement that Hon. John F. Fitzgerald, former mayor of Boston, will leave the city this fall for the majority party has taken as an indication that the former mayor has definitely removed himself from the political arena as a principal. At least, he may elect to stump for this or that man, but it is the common impression that he has given up his aspirations as an active candidate. Fitzgerald has grown quite old in the last few years. I saw him the other night dancing at the place at Old Orchard and I couldn't help regretting that, after all, fame is but fleeting. I doubt that out of the great throng there a half dozen knew him. My mind went back 16 or 17 years to the halcyon days of the Bellamy club when Fitzgerald would go out on the pier and all hands would proclaim him like unto a conqueror. He and I were the happy days before the fire when at the Irving, the Vivet, the Seashore and the Pike hotels there was fun galore with the Hon. John F. and his Redberries always in the van. Six transit gloria mundi.

WOOD-FORBES MISSION ENDS 4 MONTHS' TOUR

MANILA, Sept. 2.—Major General Leonard A. Wood and Cameron Forbes, sent by President Harding to investigate conditions in the Philippines for the purpose of guiding the administration in its policy toward the islands, reached Manila yesterday, having completed a four months' tour of the archipelago.

As soon as a brief confidential report is cable to Pres. Harding, a final report of the mission's findings will be prepared. This is expected to require two or three weeks.

The mission has traveled 15,000 miles by steamer, motor, horseback and afoot. It visited 15 of the 47 provinces, conducted public hearings in more than a hundred municipalities, listened to more than a thousand speeches and held private conferences with many hundreds of persons.

ELECTED TO CATHOLIC WELFARE COUNCIL

Secretary Philip J. Breen of Lowell council, Knights of Columbus, received word today that he has been elected a member of the National Catholic Welfare Council. The council to which Mr. Breen has been elected is composed of the hierarchy, the archbishops and bishops of America. It functions through the following five departments: education, laws and legislation, lay organizations, social action, press and publicity. The object is to unite the Catholic men of America in the service of God and country and all mankind.

WHY WEAK NERVES AND THIN WATERY BLOOD

CAUSE SUCH GREAT PHYSICAL WEAKNESS AND MAKE ONE AN EASY PREY TO A MULTITUDE OF DANGEROUS DISEASES.

Every human being is born with a certain quantity of "nerve force"—some with more than others. Your body normally makes or generates nerve force only about so fast, and if through overwork, worry, constant nervous strain or other excesses, you use up your nerve force faster than your body makes new nerve force, then your nerve power becomes weakened, and as a consequence your blood may become thin, pale, and watery, and you become feeble, cross, and irritable. In such a state you may not only suffer terrible tortures from a multitude of alarming symptoms, but in your greatly weakened condition you are an easy prey for the multitude of dangerous diseases with which you must come in almost daily contact, and you may therefore easily contract some dangerous or even fatal disease.

In such cases you should immediately take something to revitalize your worn-out, exhausted nerves and create new nerve force. This is most effectively accomplished by the free use of Nuxated Iron. This valuable product quickly adds an entire new blood, and thereby helps it to furnish an additional supply of new nerve force with which to revitalize and regenerate the brain and nerve cells. It also contains a product which represents the principal chemical constituent of active living nerve force in a form that is easily absorbed by the nerves and brain cells of man. Nuxated Iron may therefore be said to be both a blood and a nerve tonic, as it furnishes strengthening organic iron to the blood and the most important element of the nerve-cell fluid to the nerves. The effect of Nuxated Iron on cases of exhausted nerve force and impoverished blood is so remarkable and surprising that it is often marked the strongest and most rapid nerve "revitalizer" and "blood-builder" known in two weeks' time. In fact, the manufacturers guarantee satisfactory results in every purchase, or they will refund your money. Nuxated Iron is for sale by all druggists.—Adv.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

(By Theatres' Own Press Agents.)

R. F. KELTH'S THEATRE

The present week's bill at the R. F. Kelth's Theatre is one of versatility, with Ed. Pressler and Blanche Klaisso toppling in their mixture of comedy, piano playing, singing and dancing. Panton & Fieles, blackface comedians, make many friends with their snappy work which is unusual, and Eddie Carr & Co. in "The Office Boy" offer something which is bright all the way through. Chong and Rosie Moy, Chinese, dance daintily and sing Hawaiian songs, and Jean Laerasse is a California with a splendid voice. McCormick & Wallace are prime vaudevillians, and the DeLeons are startling acrobats.

THE STRAND

Elaine Hammerstein, one of the most popular screen stars of the present day is scoring one of her biggest film triumphs in "The Girl From Nowhere," which is being shown at The Strand. See it and be amused. Antonio Moreno in "Three Sevens" is a story that will grip you from the very beginning. It takes the spectators with in the prison walls and illustrates what society is doing to bring these men back to an honorable position of service in the world. Don't miss it.

OPERA HOUSE

The list of players engaged for the season by Owner Schenck and Resident Manager Cook at the Opera House for the stock season that opens Monday, is one of the best aggregations that local stock circles have ever produced. Miss Grayce Scott and William Howard are the leading people, and others include Marion Cogan as Iago, John Griffith as second woman, Otto Minell as character woman, Kalman Matus as second man, Clarence Chase as juvenile man, Richard Castilla as character man, Jack Ravich as dramatic director, Jack Matthews as assistant director, Lennox Wood and Miss Lewis in responsible parts, and others. The opening attraction will be Guy Bolton and George Middleton's comedy "Adam and Eve," a vehicle that will serve well in introducing the new members. Tickets now selling at the theatre and the Prince-Walter Bungalow Shop. Order early. Get your name on the subscription list and be assured of the best seats.

NEXT WEEK AT THE STRAND

The big attraction at The Strand for next week will be the big special production, "The Heart of Maryland," with Catherine Calvert in the principal role. This play visualizes in minute detail the story made famous by the David Belasco stage production of the past. Don't miss it. There will be two other special attractions on the same bill, including Grace Armand in "The Beautiful Gambler" and Buster Keaton in his newest comedy "The Goat." You can't afford to miss it. Conway Teal in "Society Snobs" will be shown during the week-end, Thursday night. "Heart of Maryland" will be the gift of Catherine Calvert herself, will be distributed. Be in attendance and note carefully the number of the seat you occupy. Who knows but you may be one of those to be given a doll absolutely free.

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE In "Vet Gold," the under-water photoplay being shown at the Merrimack Square theatre today, the actual firing of a torpedo from a submarine may be seen. The usual speed of a torpedo is about 35 miles an hour, but in order to show the torpedo in a moving picture, its speed was slowed down to ten miles an hour and it may be seen cutting its way through the waves. "Vet Gold" is one of the most dramatic photoplays shown in this city in many months. Rebo Daniels in "The March Hare," a story of a most entertaining character, is the other feature for the week-end. A comedy and the international News complete the bill.

GOD INSPIRES DE VALERA

Mother of Irish President
Attributes His Work to
Divine Guidance

BY ALICE ROHE
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 2.—"God it is who inspires my son—not merely his mother—so why should I be of interest?"

A snow-haired old lady with blue Irish eyes and as determined a mouth as ever expressed belief in Ireland's freedom was the speaker—Mrs. Catherine Wheelwright, mother of Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish republic.

While the son occupies the center of the stage in world interest, the heart of Ireland may be said to beat from this little house in a Rochester side street.

It was here Eamon de Valera first visited two years ago when all the British authorities were looking for him.

Dynamic Figure

Mrs. Wheelwright, blue eyes snapping, aged figure full of determination and vigor, looks the part of an inspiring Irish patriot as ever gave mother interest to any Irish stage drama.

"Of course, a mother plays a part in her son's destiny, but my mother, too, had a lot to do with 'E's' life. What man becomes depends on his early training."

"My boy—a great man? Well, I guess England isn't so fond of him!" The old lady laughed. "He certainly has given the British lion's tail a few twinks."

"Yes, he is a great world figure, but the true and the whole future of Ireland's freedom is God's will—God's purpose working through my son."

"You think my son an important man today; well, it isn't anything to what he's going to be."

Mr. Wheelwright turned toward her husband, Charles Wheelwright, foreman in a big Rochester optical house.

"That is, if England doesn't get him."

"They won't," said Wheelwright. "Everything will be settled definitely before six months."

Recalls Visit

"Wasn't I glad to have him here, though?" she said, putting on her black hat and getting her prayer book, for she was going to mass. "We had great times together. I haven't been back in Ireland for 14 years, but I'm going again when—"

She stopped and looked, not wisely, but exultantly about her little home.

"It's 42 years since I came to America. I've lived in Rochester 25 years."

"Seems long—but what's my life and that of my son to the hundreds of years Ireland's been fighting for freedom?"

"When 'E' was a little boy he seemed different from the others—maybe a mother's prayers do count—but I tell you it's God who chose him to fulfill a divine destiny."

"He was born in America and reared in Ireland; that a good start for a liberator. He has grit, courage, determination and intelligence."

Mother of Liberty

Looking at the purposeful, shrewd, keen old lady, whose lined face is a dynamo of energy, one could understand what inheritance she had bestowed upon her son.

"It's best for me not to talk about politics and I can keep my mouth closed, but—"

As Mrs. Wheelwright, neat and black-clad, hurried off to mass, her gesture expressed volumes. There isn't a side-light on the Irish situation that isn't known to this old lady. She sits in her tidy little home and waits and watches her hour—the real mother of Irish liberty.

PROTEST AGAINST FRENCH WAR BLACK LISTS

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 2.—In Scandinavian circles there is a growing feeling against the keeping up by France of her Black Lists established by law of February 15, 1917. These lists keep Scandinavian firms from doing legitimate business with their old customers, not only German customers, but firms in Scandinavia, firms of high repute and standing.

Financial and commercial circles in Stockholm and Copenhagen are now attempting to put pressure on the Swedish and Danish governments to move in this matter and demand of France the repeal of this war act.

In some circles there exist even a tendency toward retaliation against France because, it is alleged here, French firms are actually dealing direct with German and blacklisted firms at the same time the French government prevents neutral companies from doing the same.

In insurance circles the feelings may be gauged from the tenor of the following quotation from the official Scandinavian insurance journal: "We consider it a great impertinence that the names of highly respected Scandinavian companies—insurance and otherwise—today, nearly three years after the signing of the armistice, still figure on the French black lists as a punishment for conducting their business on strictly neutral lines. We know that prominent French insurers look eye to eye with us in this matter and feel ashamed that their country is keeping up a measure abandoned long ago by America, England, Italy and her other partners in the great war. The Act of February 15 must be repealed and the black lists must go. Even the neutral worm will turn."

FLOATING EXHIBITION OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The American steamship St. Louis, fitted out as a floating exhibition hall with samples of the products of three hundred leading American manufacturers, will leave New York next January on an American sales promotion trip to 50 foreign ports. The slogan of the enterprise "I'll Tell the World" will fly from the forepeak. The trip will take a year. The exhibition space is equal to that of Madison Square Garden.

Although there are a few misgivings about the present being auspicious for such a trip, J. Herbert Anderson, the promoter, says, it should be remembered that business conditions in some parts of South America are good and will be improved in 1922. Japan, China, India, Australia, Norway and Sweden have been to a degree free from much of the financial worry that followed the world war, he says, and the Balkan states should be a fertile field for the exchange of commodities. All those countries will be included in the itinerary of the St. Louis.

It is claimed that many of the smaller countries have considerable wealth and buying power and that the American manufacturers will lose out in those fields in competition with Europeans unless they get busy. Interpreters and credit men will be carried on the trip to assist the manufacturers' representatives in presenting their goods to foreign buyers and establishing sound financial relations. The St. Louis is at present being converted into an oil barge.

WIRELESS ON FIRE CHIEF'S AUTO

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Sept. 2.—Installation of wireless telephone on the automobile of Fred D. Graham, chief of the fire department, to enable him to keep in constant touch with headquarters no matter where he may be, is planned by local officials.

In addition to being fire chief, Graham serves as fire hazard officer and inspector of wires and these duties keep him away from the station much of the time. In the past when a still alarm or other emergency has required his personal attention there has sometimes been serious delay in reaching him. By installing a receiving set on the automobile and a sending set at fire headquarters it will be possible, it is believed, to ring him up at any time and send him speedily to the point where his presence is required.

Officials of the water department are watching the experiment with some interest as they have in mind a similar equipment for the automobile of Superintendent Morrison Merrill who is frequently called on to answer emergency calls.

LONDON, Sept. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—Prime Minister Lloyd George has sent the reply of Eamon de Valera, the Irish republican leader, to his latest communication on the Irish peace proposals to London for circulation among the members of the cabinet. Having regard for the serious issues involved, Mr. Lloyd George has summoned a cabinet meeting to be held on Wednesday next at Inverness, Scotland.

King George will be at Moy Hall, near Inverness and Mr. Lloyd George will visit him there.

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—A statement which, in view of the status of the peace negotiations, may be significant, appears in the Irish Bulletin, official organ of the Dail Eireann.

"Ireland makes but one condition," says the paper, "that it be a free union. The long antagonism between Ireland and England arose solely from England's attempts to make the subjection of Ireland the first condition of the alliance which should naturally exist between them."

"Whatever qualifications of complete political and economical separation are made necessary by physical and historical facts will be acceptable to Ireland, provided they are consonant with the principle of government by the consent of the governed."

DUBLIN, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sinn Fein Ireland today awaited publication of the next of the note sent to Prime Minister Lloyd George yesterday by Eamon de Valera and his colleagues in the Irish republican government. Mr. Lloyd George WASHINGTON, Sept. 2. Orders for the immediate entrainment of troops for the West Virginia strike zone were issued early today by Major General Harbord, assistant chief of staff.

All war department arrangements were said to be complete for promulgating martial law as soon as troops now on the way arrive in the disturbed area. Secretary of War Weeks, arriving early at his office, asked that all communications received during the night be placed before him.

The orders for the dispatch of troops were issued as the result of a telegram from Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, who was sent by Secretary Weeks to report on the situation and particularly upon whether the strikers would accede to President Harding's command that they disperse.

General Bandholtz at midnight last night recommended that troops be sent "at once."

READJUSTMENT 75 P. C. ACCOMPLISHED

Seventy-five per cent of the "road of readjustment" has been safely traveled and a strong concerting of will and effort on the part of business in all sections of the country will soon complete the war, George M. Verity, president of the American Rolling Mills Co., of Middletown, O., writes to the New York Commercial.

Mr. Verity adds that the large tasks of today are an exhilarating challenge to men of strength and courage. He says:

"This is indeed a time for strengthening the morale of the workers of the nation."

"Nothing can possibly be gained by undue pessimism or by magnifying the ills of the times."

"There is no mystery about the present situation. The war carried us to extreme heights of inflation and then after a very brief respite, we went up again to greater costs and higher prices."

"Going up is usually exhilarating, but the coming down is tedious and often distressing."

"We have been making the return trip ever since last November, and we still have some distance to cover before we arrive at the foot of the mountain we were six years in climbing, where we can start up the next incline of full employment and more prosperous conditions."

"There never was a time in the history of the world when there were so many important, complex and perplexing problems to be solved—but why be dismayed or even discouraged?"

"It requires large tasks to develop the full strength of men and of nations—nothing else can do it."

"The men and the women of the civilized nations of the earth have just won a world war, so gigantic in its proportions, so horrible in its details, so tremendous in its results, as to fairly stagger imagination."

"The task that faced each nation as it entered the war was stupendous, but its men and its women bared their backs and arms and all acclaimed 'They shall not pass.'"

"If humanity can win in such a tragic, ghastly enterprise, it is not going to be shocked or even checked in the solving of the problems of peace."

"These are, however, times that require the same spirit of sacrifice and determination that was contributed so generously by all in the winning of the war. Each must see his or her part and do it promptly and resolutely, in order that we may get back to a period of profitable employment for all at the earliest possible date."

"Labor is responding to the need of getting back to somewhere near pre-war prices, and a result, costs of production are rapidly reaching bottom, where prices can be made that will bring a complete return of confidence on the part of the buyers of the country."

"The present situation is improved, but still requires such readjustment and of constructive upbuilding to meet the need of the nation."

"Agriculture was stricken by the sudden and drastic reversal of conditions, but it has weathered the storm and will be the first to fully recuperate."

"Our financial system has stood the strain splendidly. It is readjusting itself to meet the need of the present situation and it will see us through safely."

"In my opinion, seventy-five per cent of this most important 'road of readjustment' has been traveled and seventy-five per cent of the first paid 'A strong step' will pull together can soon complete the job."

"Our president and his cabinet, supported by the legislative branch of our government, are facing the problems of taxation, tariff and readjustment of national and international affairs courageously and effectively."

FORCE NO CURE IN COAL FIELDS, SAYS GOMPERS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The trouble in West Virginia will not be cured by forcing men into submission while allowing continuance of the evils against which they have so desperately protested. Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a statement last night.

"I join with all Americans," Mr. Gompers said, "in deprecating the violence in that state, but it is worse than useless to deal with the surface manifestations while allowing the deep, underlying puerile criminality to continue uninterrupted with and unchecked."

The basic facts, which he charged had not been fully and truthfully presented by the public press and the federal government, he described as follows:

"The miners of West Virginia constitute the last refuge of autocracy in the mining industry. In these mines an untrammelled, unlimited greed dominates absolutely. Absentee owners hold immense tracts of rich mining land, demanding only dividends. The appetite of this private greed is upheld by a private army of killers the like of which no longer exists in any other state. This private army is paid by the mine owners and naturally seeks to justify its presence by making business for itself in the form of trouble. The Baldwin-Felts detective agency recruits this army, but the mine owners pay the bill."

WIRELESS WAVES MAY BE FROM MARS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Wireless waves 150,000 meters long, which he believed may have come from Mars, were picked up several months ago by Guglielmo Marconi, during experiments aboard his yacht, Electra, in the Mediterranean.

J. C. H. MacBeth, London manager of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph company, Ltd., made this statement yesterday at a luncheon of the Rotary club.

The maximum wave length produced on the earth today is 14,000 meters, Mr. MacBeth said, and the regularity of the waves detected by Mr. Marconi and other experts led them to believe that they were not electrical disturbances, but efforts of Mars to get into communication with the earth. The only resemblance of the waves to any code used on the earth was a similarity to the letter V in the international code.

On April 5, 1920, when Mr. Marconi set out from London on an experimental voyage, he declared he was not "going fishing for Mars messages," and attributed wireless disturbances, which at that time were felt simultaneously on three continents to electrical disturbances in the sun or some equally remote place.

Mexico is divided into 26 states, the federal district and two territories.

LOUD COLORS RIVAL DAINTY LINGERIE SHADES

BY MARIAN HALE
NEW YORK, August 30.—According to the somewhat cynical theory that woman is most attractively dressed when the least dressed, lingerie is a most important feature of feminine apparel.

Whether or not woman is jealous of the styles set by mere man, at least she is trying to emulate him in his hectic boudoir habiliments. The new woman's pajamas and nightgowns are shown in colors of the loudest sort. Tangerine, even henna, violet with pinks and blues and yellows. But the most popular of shades is orchid.

It seems to be the floral aspiration of the boudoir lady to look like this exotic flower.

The night robe as well as the chemise worn by Lady Helen Montague are made of indestructible chiffon voile, satin striped, in orchid shades.

Adventures of the Twins

BRUSHES AND BROOMS

THEY GATHERED UP THEIR BROOMS AND BRUSHES

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
The Twins took down the key of the house of the Nuisance Fairies, where Sprinkle-Blow had hung it on a nail, then they gathered up their brooms, and brushes, and rags, and polishes, and crossed the road.

"Look, Nick," cried Nancy, "they see us coming. I was hoping they would all be asleep."

Nick looked up—and behold! Junny Lightning was looking out of one window, Old Man Flood out of another, Ol Sizzly Dry-Weather out of a third, and indeed at every window in the house appeared the face of a Nuisance Fairy staring at them curiously.

"Well," said Nancy, "they'll soon know what we are after, and won't they be pleased to know that we are going to clean house for them?"

"I don't know," answered Nick doubtfully. "They say that Old Man Flood is an elegant scrubber."

"Don't you believe it," declared Nancy. "He's the dirtiest thing Farmer Smith always says he has to clean up after a flood."

The Twins slipped the key into the door softly and stepped inside, slamming it behind them before even wily Jack Frost knew what they were about. "Goodness!" he said to himself with a sheepish grin. "If I'd known that, I'd have slipped out and had some fun. What if it, kiddies? What are all the brushes and brooms and bottles for? You look as though you had just come from Scrub-Up-Land."

When the Nuisance Fairies heard the news there was a great hullabaloo. Everybody was pleased and

COUNTRY WITHOUT ARMY, NAVY, DEBT OR TAXES

SYDNEY, New South Wales, Sept. 2.—A country without an army, without a navy, without a national debt and without an income tax, where the romance of the South Seas still lives, and where every male reaching the age of 16 years must own eight and one quarter acres of land to sustain his own family—a statute obligation which is fulfilled by a magnificent government granting him the land gratis.

Such is Tonga, the last remaining native kingdom in the Pacific ocean, according to the description furnished by Tui Vakana, premier of the island, who was here recently.

Premier Vakana said that the people of Tonga are very contented. They have their own monarch, ministry, flag and parliament of seven members elected by the people and an equal number chosen by the nobles or hereditary chiefs.

At the end of last March Premier Vakana said the kingdom had a surplus of more than 100,000 pounds revenue over its expenditure after paying for all public works.

Males reaching the age of sixteen are granted their land and must plant enough coconuts, yams and other food to contain their families and to pay their educational tax, which prac-

ARRESTED FOR REFUSAL TO INCREASE TAXES

LONDON, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Sheriff's officers in motor cars went to Poplar last evening and visited the residences of the members of the Poplar Borough council, who had refused to comply with an order of the high court requiring them to raise tax rates in accordance with the ruling of the London County Council.

Many of the councillors were not at home, but several of them were arrested and conveyed to prison amid sympathetic cheers from the crowds which gathered as soon as it was known that the sheriff's officers were active.

George Lansbury, editor of the Daily Herald, national labor organ, who is a member of the borough council, has not yet been arrested, nor have any of the women members of the council, of whom there are several, but it is expected that all will be imprisoned today, as they are not attempting to evade arrest.

There were lively scenes in many parts of London yesterday. Great demonstrations of unemployed were held, notably at Shoreditch, where a mass meeting rejected a compromise offer made by the board of guardians.

At Hackney the police were summoned to deal with a number of workless men who spent the night in the workhouse, but in the morning refused to work out their lodging. Seven of the men were arrested, including the secretary of a local organization, and sentenced to seven days' imprisonment.

CLEVELAND AWAITS FIRST LADY

MAYOR AND MRS. W. S. FITZGERALD.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—Cleveland is waiting to see its "First Lady."

On formal occasions in the past, when it was necessary for Mayor William S. Fitzgerald—"bachelor mayor"—to do the honors, it was his mother who ably assisted.

And all that time, busy with her music studies in the east and in Italy, there was a Mrs. Fitzgerald that Cleveland—even the intimate friends of the mayor—knew nothing about.

The mayor has just announced that he married three years ago. Mrs. Fitzgerald's maiden name was Miss Margaret Chilton Tucker. She is a grandniece of ex-Senator Chilton of Texas.

"We met in Washington when I was there on official business," says Fitzgerald. "After a courtship we went to New York and were quietly married. Mrs. Fitzgerald's ambition was for a professional musical career. She wanted to continue her studies abroad, so by mutual consent out marriage was kept secret."

Mrs. Fitzgerald probably will not come to Cleveland until after the close of her husband's mayoralty campaign this fall.

OREGON DECLINES TO SIGN TREATY

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) The signing of a treaty with the United States is "neither possible, convenient nor necessary, and is contrary to Mexican constitutional precepts, in that it creates special privileges for Americans," according to that portion of President Obregon's message to congress dealing with foreign relations, which was read in the house last night.

"Mexico has been consolidated and regulated in all parts," says the president's message. "Federal tribunals are functioning, with independence of action, giving all necessary guarantees to foreigners and Mexican citizens; numerous economies have been put into practice, thanks to which the national debt will soon be paid. In a word, all promises are being carried out."

The president's message was a voluminous document and included a consolidated report from all the governmental departments. The reports submitted by the members of the cabinet were unanimously optimistic and frequently alluded to "the perfect harmony and cordiality" existing between the legislative, executive and judicial branches of the government.

LANDIS IS CONDEMNED

Accepting Private Employment Censured by American Bar Association

CINCINNATI, Sept. 2.—The action of Federal Judge Kenesaw M. Landis of Chicago, national commissioner of baseball, in accepting "private employment and private emolument" while active on the federal bench, was declared to meet with the "unqualified condemnation" of the American Bar association in a resolution adopted last night.

The resolution was adopted after stormy debate, in which ex-Senator James Hamilton Lewis counseled against hasty action and moved that the matter be referred to a committee for investigation. He declared that Judge Landis should be accorded a proper hearing before being condemned.

The resolution was drawn late yesterday by the executive committee of the association and was presented by Hampton L. Carson of Philadelphia, former president of the organization.

Requirements for Bar

After a heated debate over adoption of the report of a committee on requirements for admission to the bar, headed by Ellis Root, the Bar association yesterday passed a resolution recommending two years college work and three years in a recognized law school as the minimum requirements for admission to the practice of law.

The recommendations of the committee were offered as a resolution by Mr. Root, who explained that the report was the result of investigation and conferences with prominent lawyers and law educators.

The report was adopted by the Section of Legal Education, where the committee originated, after a stormy session Wednesday. Seeking to defer action until next year, Henry E. Davis of Washington, D. C., offered a substitute resolution, after Mr. Root had moved adoption of the report. Mr. Davis declared the conditions "severely restrictive" and argued that many prominent lawyers in the country would have been barred from practice if such restrictions had been in force when they began their careers.

Found Unfortunate Condition

"We have found an unfortunate condition—one that ought to be remedied," Mr. Root declared in reply. "Shall the bar do nothing? This recommendation may inconvenience some members of this association, but I care more about having the bar secure the effective administration of justice in this disturbed country than I do about their inconvenience."

William A. Melchum, former attorney general of Indiana, and Edward T. Lee of Chicago, spoke against adoption of the report. Mr. Lee declared that college today was "largely a place of social diversion," and expressing the belief that men and women would become successful lawyers without a college education.

The recommendations of the report would not bar any lawyer now practicing, William Nathan Macchesney of Chicago said. "Times have changed. The bar should be required to go forward and meet certain minimum requirements," he said. "Two years of college work today is no more onerous than a high school course 10 years ago."

The debate was finally ended by the gavel of Chairman Frederick W. Lehman of St. Louis, and the Root resolution was passed.

Reports of sections on criminal law, signed "Gangster" and "Burglarious" utility law and others, and of numerous committees were heard by the morning session.

Attacks Centralization

The administration of federal government in the United States was attacked last night by ex-Senator Chas. S. Thomas of Colorado, who declared this country had turned from a representative republic to a continent democracy.

Encroachment of federal authority on states' rights was criticized by the former senator and federal expenditures were declared a "riot of waste and profligacy which has long disgraced the country's affairs." Republicans and democrats are now meeting upon a common ground, Mr. Thomas said, with "even the tariff a basis for common plunder." Both the great parties, he said, practiced "identical methods of administration" which has so altered the American government that its transformation is threatened. Public opinion only, he added, could remedy the "sinister conditions" before the country and urged the American bar foster such opinions. The international scope of the Bar association's convention was emphasized last night by the presentation of a "sakad-zuk," a Japanese loving cup, to the association by Dr. R. Masujima, in behalf of the Japanese Bar association. Dr. Masujima declared the Japanese bar looked to the American bar as the preceptor of bar associations.

One More Week—Then "Back-To-School"

OFF TO SCHOOL!

Before you close your bag, Mary, let Mother see if you have everything you need.

Well, I'm glad to see you have a good supply of "every-day" lingerie tape for straps. Your straps always wear out first. And you are sure you have a bodkin?

(Lingerie Tape 5c Yard)

If you keep your clothes on hangers they won't have to be cleaned and pressed so often. Therefore, I think it is a good idea to bring along a number of small ivory coat hangers. They take but little space and cost 29c

And please promise me that you will keep your stockings darned. I know how you hate to do it, but PLEASE! I have put in some darning cotton in black, white and brown.

(Darning Cotton 5c)

And Hair Nets. I've noticed that since you started to wear those double mesh hair nets you haven't worn out as many as you used to. I think you have plenty, but if you need more I'll send them to you.

(Double Mesh Hair Nets 2 for 25c)

And I want you to be very particular about your dress shields. I have put in any number. Some for your silk dresses and others for your georgette blouses, etc.

(Many Styles and Prices)

Needles and pins, thread, thimble and scissors I've tucked away in your work basket.

I've just thought of something you simply must have. And that is shoe trees for your shoes. Try and take time to slip them inside of your shoes every night.

(Shoe Trees 35c)

This is a splendid trunk. I am very much pleased with it. I bought it at Chalifoux's Luggage Department. They have a remarkable department in the Men's Store. This trunk cost $35.00 and I wouldn't sell it for twice that amount.

Now I think that is all. You have everything you need, but if there is anything you have forgotten, just write to Chalifoux's and have them send it to you. Charge it to me. Their address is

WAR PROFITEERS TO ESCAPE ARREST

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The announced criminal prosecution of the war profiteers will never come off. The government is now able to reach only those who committed offenses after Sept. 11, 1918, during the last two months and 11 days of actual hostilities, or subsequent to the signing of the armistice.

Delay in extending the statute of limitations from three to six years has let a big part of the harvest escape the department of justice. Atty. Gen. Daugherty recently requested legislation from congress, but any action after the recess cannot affect the cases on which the present statute has operated.

The bar has been let down and those who did not commit criminal acts after Sept. 11, 1918, are already in the safety zone.

It was made clear at the department yesterday that the profiteers can still be reached through civil action to recover funds taken from the government. Before he requested legislation on the criminal statute of limitations, Mr.

Daugherty had precedents investigated and announced that the new law would not be retroactive. By that, it will extend the statute only in cases on which the bar has not already been let down. The legislation, it was stated yesterday, cannot be made to apply to the offenders of any earlier date.

There is no way by which the early war profiteers, whose offenses were committed three years ago, can now be reached under the criminal statutes unless they continued their criminal action through a considerable later period.

Civil action will be resorted to in cases where the evidence taken by the investigating committee of congress and the inquiry by the department of justice under the direction of Col. Guy D. Goff, assistant to the attorney general justifies. Col. Goff said yesterday that the statute which affords the profiteers protection begins to run only from the last overt act. Should congress enact the desired legislation on Sept. 1, profiteers or war grafters who violated the law during the 10 days prior to the armistice or subsequent to it can be reached under the criminal statutes.

Fortunately the government, in the opinion of Mr. Goff, can prosecute for an offense committed more than three years ago if there is a subsequent offense by the same person upon which the statute of limitations has not run.

WOMAN AND CHILDREN DELAY TRAIN ONE HOUR

BRETON WOODS, N. H., Sept. 2.—The south-bound train from Quebec to Portland arrived at Colebrook from Beecher Falls, Vt., nearly an hour late, although arriving on time at Beecher Falls. Passengers chafing at the delay there learned that it was caused by the appearance before the immigration officers of a French Canadian woman bound for Maine with her 14 children. The woman was obliged to state the name, exact age and birthplace of each child in the manifest before being permitted to proceed, and her memory required much jogging at the unexpected queries.

QUEEN ANNIE LOSES HER CROWN

EX-QUEEN ANNIE STANLEY

STICKNEY, Ill., Sept. 2.—A sovereign without a throne—a ruler without scepter or subjects.

She is Annie Stanley, queen of all American gypsies.

Five years ago she ruled, with King Gus Stanley, now dead, over 75,000 followers—a migrating horde who obeyed her command.

And then came the world war with its falling of crowns. The gypsies likewise demanded freedom—and Queen Annie abdicated.

She has laid aside her gold chains of nuggets and is in retirement here. Stickney, during the period of the "gypsy dynasty," was the capital to which all American tribes sent emissaries to pay homage, legislate and receive instruction.

So the ex-queen has decided to spend her last days here. She is 53 years old.

"The war ruined everything for me," she says. "The people all want freedom—but maybe it is for the best."

AT BAR ASSOCIATION

L. Z. Rosser Discusses Lynchings and Mob Spirit at Convention

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Impartial annihilation of the "whole poisonous" pestilential brood of what generally is called the mob spirit, is the only guaranty of national safety. Luther Z. Rosser of Atlanta, Ga., told the American Bar association in an address on the illegal enforcement of the law this morning.

Lynchings, he said, will cease only when negroes stop their attacks on white women and when the white people reach such a stage of self-control that they can restrain themselves in favor of the law. Two things that are too deep-seated to be met by the law alone but must be overcome by an awakening of public conscience and the uplift of the two races.

But lynchings, he added, was only one phase of the mob spirit that is constantly and industriously laying the axe at the root of government. Labor mobs, though different in their intention and make-up, were declared to be just as inimical to the safety of the nation.

"The labor mob too often is born of deliberation and preparations. It often lives long enough to exert its corrupting influence upon legislation and administration and to secure the universal object of all such mobs.

The consideration of a protest to the municipal council against its action in addressing a resolution to Lloyd George at its last meeting without consulting the sentiments of all the residents of the city will in all probability be one of the matters which will come up for discussion at a meeting of the Lowell British-American club next Wednesday evening, according to William Axon, its president. The resolution in question says that the people of Lowell protest against the offer of settlement pro-

Beautiful Russian, Sued by One Spouse, Faces Suit by Second

PRINCESS TROUBETZKOY

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—Princess Nadejda Troubetzkoy has vanished.

Lawyers seeking her in connection with divorce proceedings have been unable to locate her.

Meanwhile two husbands are seeking their freedom.

One is an Enoch Arden—a man whom the princess thought killed in France.

Thus another chapter of bad luck mars the career of the princess in the United States.

The first chapter was written last year when the legality of her title was attacked.

The princess, on her arrival in the United States, went to Washington.

There she lived in a regal suite in the Hotel Willard, surrounded by a royal retinue, and attended nursing classes at Garfield Memorial hospital.

Although she was registered incoincident at the hospital, rumors as to her relationship to the old Russian nobility soon spread. For a time she refused to be interviewed, stating that she was devoting her entire career to the Russian Red Cross, and was merely studying to fit herself for her life's work.

But—"She is not a princess," declared W. W. Bonimistrow, special commissioner of the Russian Red Cross in this country. "There are Princesses Troubetzkoy in Russia, but this lady is not related to them. Moreover, she has no right to wear the uniform of the Russian Red Cross, as this may be worn only on duty."

Princess Replies

This brought a heated retort from the princess. She said:

"She is a cousin of Prince Pierre Troubetzkoy, husband of Amelle Rives."

She was born in Moscow and educated in the Imperial university in Petrograd.

She served at the front in Russia with her own hospital train from 1914 to 1916.

She served six months as a Red Cross nurse at the siege of Verdun.

She was wounded on the battlefield by a Zeppelin bomb and received from the czar the Cross of St. George.

She was arrested in Petrograd by the revolutionists, but escaped to America by way of Siberia.

Married Captain.

Shortly afterward the princess became the wife of Captain Wallace Schultz of the American army.

The captain's suit for divorce was pending when Victor A. Turin, a Russian, appeared in Boston to institute divorce proceedings.

Turin stated that he had met the princess previous to her marriage to Capt. Schultz, had wooed and won her, and then had left her and gone to France. Says Turin:

"I am a Russian gentleman. The princess is, of course, the princess—member of the highest Russian nobility. She had been a nurse in the war. I had been sent to Boston to buy munitions for the Russian government, and there I met her."

Then They Parted

"The princess loved me, and I her. Then came separation. We both agreed it was better to part."

Then consider my amazement when I found that the princess had married Captain Schultz, while she was married to me. Capt. Schultz's divorce suit is a logical result.

"I have come to learn that you cannot get happiness in marriage. It is impossible. Love is a rope of roses, but marriage is a rope of steel."

"You see, in this widows' money-mad America of yours, the outward symbol means a great deal. The little wedding ring means the world and all to most women. Therefore, it is well for a man to love, to honor a woman in this way. So, I am divorcing the princess. But, mind you, I still have the highest regard for her, and wish her the best of happiness."

CABINET MAY RESIGN

Premier Briand's Ministry

Faces What Amounts to a Crisis

PARIS, Sept. 2.—Premier Briand's cabinet is declared by the Echo de Paris to face what amounts to a crisis. Paul Doumer, minister of finance, is likely to resign as a result of yesterday's cabinet meeting at which he was criticized when the subject of the inter-Allied financial agreement of Aug. 13, was discussed. The newspaper says that Louis Loucheur, minister for liberated regions, may replace him, and that a senator may take M. Loucheur's portfolio.

It is also possible that the whole cabinet will resign. It is declared, so that Premier Briand may rearrange his ministry more easily. In any case, however, the crisis is expected to be brief and may be settled before tonight.

The financial agreement has been strongly criticized in parliament and in financial circles, and it is probable the cabinet will decline to ratify it.

Army aviators are forbidden to make spectacular flights.

INDIAN REVISITS WIDOW OF "BUFFALO BILL"

CODY, Wyo., Sept. 2.—Stirring memories of the old Wild West were revived in the recent reunion here of Mrs. William F. Cody (Buffalo Bill) and Chief Red Wolf, Sioux Indian, whom she had mothered as a battlefield orphan picked up by her famous husband. Red Wolf, relative of Sitting Bull, was educated in her home, near Yellowstone National park, and at mission schools by Mrs. Cody, and later became a scout under "Buffalo Bill" as had been his father "Buckskin Jack."

has been practiced in stations which have been approved by the registry. In most cases the fee charged is fifty cents or one dollar, and Registrar Frank A. Goodwin feels that the latter sum should be the maximum charge in any case. In very few instances, he says, will it be necessary to consume an hour in the adjustment of lights, and at usual garage rates the fee for less than an hour should not exceed a dollar.

Each station complained of is immediately reprimanded by the registrar, and if a second instance of overcharging is reported, the registrar will revoke his approval of the station.

Mr. Goodwin made it clear today that he would much prefer that each owner of an automobile should adjust his own lights, for in that way they will become familiar with the devices used and will be able to correct deficiencies which may occur on the road.

This, if agreed upon, will be presented to the five large packers with a request for a conference.

Tilden to Defend Title Where
He Won His First Cup

HERE IS CHAMPION TILDEN. ACTION, AS HE LOOKS TO-NIGHT AND AT THE AGE OF NINE, WHEN HE WON HIS FIRST CUP.

By Newspaper Enterprise.
PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 2.—There are days of champions and days of championships matches and such, but the day of days will be when William T. Tilden, tennis champion of the world, plays in the national singles championship tournament, Sept. 9, on the courts of the Germantown cricket club.

It's all a sort of a special tribute to "Big Bill," for it was on these courts that he played his first game of tennis, and now it's "Bill the Master," who is bringing back with him the world's championship.

He is 28 and has been playing the game since he was six. Just 20 years ago he won his first cup in a tennis tournament.

Near His Home
His home is just across the street from the cricket club.

When he is not touring the seven seas, winning laurels and world championships for America, Tilden lives with his aunt, Miss Elizabeth M. Hey, and his cousin, Miss S. G. Hey, and during the coming championship matches "open house" will be the order of the day at the Hey home.

Of course, we're proud of "Bill," said Miss Hey, the cousin. "We're proud of his success as a tennis player, and we're proud of all the cups and other honors that have been accorded him, not forgetting by any means this little cup," and Miss Hey held up the small silver cup that the champion won 20 years ago—his first tennis cup.

But we're more proud of him because he is the same Bill Tilden today that he was 20 years ago. He's as natural and as modest with all the honors that have been showered upon him as he was when he first began playing tennis across the way there," and Miss Hey pointed through the open door to a vine-covered arched entrance to the grounds of the cricket club.

AMERICAN DERBY
FOR WHIPPETS
HAMILTON, Sept. 2.—Whippets racing for a national championship at a rate of 100 yards in six seconds, was the spectacle at the Myopia Hunt club today. It was the second annual American derby for whippets, small dogs, long and lithe of limb, that run like the wind.

Animals from Canada and from this country were brought to the line for the test at the derby distance of 200 yards. Two of them have been without defeat. Man-o-war, owned by Stanley Grimeshaw of Toronto, has coursed across the fields in Canada always in front. Tommy, owned by James Gilligan of Lawrence, also has won every race, both against the speedy whippets which are the pets of the mill operatives in that city and in competition with the better bred and faster of the millionaire colony here. Sunshine, the present champion, a mix of a dog weighing only 13 pounds and Bazaar Tuckerman's Black Prince, which like Tommy and Man-o-war weighs 15 pounds, were other leading entries among 11 championship contenders.

The derby is a three heat race from standing starts. The record for the 200 yards is 12-5 seconds but 12 seconds was regarded as well within the possibilities of the four dogs mentioned.

GAELIC ASSOCIATION
TO CHANGE QUARTERS
At the regular meeting of the Lowell Gaelic association, held last evening at Trades and Labor hall in Central street, it was decided to acquire permanent quarters in upper Central street. It was also voted to participate in the parade which is to be one of the features of the great field day to be held at Spalding park on Labor day.

YANKEES NOW IN LEAD

Ousted Cleveland by Double Victory Over Washington
Yesterday

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The New York Yankees climbed into the lead in the American league by a double victory over Washington yesterday, while Cleveland was losing a hard-fought 12-inning battle to Detroit.

The Pittsburgh Nationals, though retaining their first place position, suffered a double defeat and the New York Giants, despite a contest lost to Brooklyn, split a half game on the Pirates.

The two rivals in each league are tied on games won but each runner-up has dropped two games more than the leader.

The Washington Americans have lost seven straight games. Johnson of the Senators was hit for five consecutive singles before a man was put out in the fourth inning of the second game.

The first game will be played on the Textile campus tomorrow afternoon, the second game on Monday, and the third if necessary at a date to be arranged later.

The managers posted lists of players to be used in the series and no others will be allowed to participate.

The Highland Daylights, who got away to a rather bad start at the opening of the Twilight league season, were gradually strengthened by Manager Lord, and in the final stages of the league race, the team was looked upon as one of the best ever organized in this city.

Long John Smith, who pitched many winning games for the team, will be in the box tomorrow. It is expected that Hubert, who pitched a sensational game in the broad way last Saturday, will work for the C.M.A.C. The game will start at 3.15 o'clock.

Plans for the big three game series between Louis Lord's Highland Daylights, runners-up in the Twilight league, and the C.M.A.C. were completed at a meeting of the rival managers held last night.

BUSTS FENCES AND
BASEBALL HEARTS

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 2.—Here in St. Louis, where the Browns fuss around with baseball, they have a flyweight in the heavy class.

One Kenneth Williams, game buster. He's a midge in the horse-hide realm, and from appearances, one would rather lay him down as a champion buster.

But he's got a nasty habit. He smacks the ball for four sacks right when the opposition seems to have the game sewed up.

So far this season he has pecked out twenty homers and has caused twenty times that much grief.

SAVAGE TO REFEREE
NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Jim Savage of Jersey City was selected yesterday to referee the world's middleweight championship bout Labor Day between Johnny Watson of Boston and Bryan Downey of Cleveland. Savage was an alternate referee for the Dempsey-Carpentier contest.

LOWELL VS. MALDEN

Stage Set for Big K. of C.
Battle at Spalding Park
Tomorrow

The stage is all set for one of the best baseball battles of the season tomorrow afternoon at Spalding park when Manager "Nixey" Coughlin's K. of C. team lines up against the Malden Knights of Columbus. Manager Coughlin's men have had it comparatively "soft" in their last few games but tomorrow afternoon they will line up against a nine that is bound to put up a stiff fight.

More than ordinary interest is attached to the coming of the Malden aggregation inasmuch as the assistant manager and treasurer of the outfit is Frank Rogers, a former Lowell man and brother of the late Geo. Rogers who gave up his life in the world war, the first Lowell man to die at sea in the great conflict.

Rogers still has a warm spot for the Spindle City but once his team gets on the field Saturday afternoon all affections for his home town will be forgotten and he will dash tooth and nail for a Malden victory. The Malden players will be accompanied by a crowd of 200 rooters, armed with plenty of noisemakers to rattle the local "baseys."

The lineup of the visiting aggregation will be as follows:
E. Uraun ss, Rowe 2b, Leary rf, Coughlin c, Cronin lb, G. Uraun c, Cassel lf, Herube 3b, and Mulhane, Wright or Queen p.

Manager Coughlin will send in his usual strong team with Jimmy Davidson once more on the mound. The game will be called at 3.15 and there will be special car service to the grounds.

The Malden Knights claim 25 victories so far this season, some of them against the strongest nines in the state. If the Lowell team succeeds in winning, Manager Coughlin will claim the state championship and will meet all legitimate disputants of the claim.

Manager Coughlin announced today that notwithstanding reports to the contrary his team will be the same as that of last Saturday. He also stated that as Bob Keeler is away on his vacation he has secured Dan Barry, the Boston baseball expert, who played here several years ago with the St. Patrick's sanctuary choir team, to come here and umpire.

TENNIS CLASSIC FOR THE
DAVIS CUP
FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The international tennis classic for the Davis cup starts today on the courts of the West Side club, with William M. Johnston of San Francisco facing Ichiji Kumagata of Japan in the first of a three-day series of matches. The game was scheduled for 2.30 o'clock, and was to be followed at 4 o'clock by singles between William T. Tilden 2nd, of Philadelphia, world's champion, and Zenzō Shimidzu.

The Japanese pair won the right to contest in the challenge round by battling through an elimination contest with teams of 11 other nations. The team they meet today including in addition to Johnston and Tilden, R. Norris Williams 2nd, of Boston and Watson M. Washburn of New York as a doubles combination, is the same quartet that brought the cup back from Australia last winter.

And let the mountain go out in the highways and fall on a lot of lesser little stars to prove that it still has its one-time landslide abilities before the mountain even considers going near Mahomet.

SUPERSTITION
The Pittsburgh Pirates had a group picture taken of the team. Someone happened to mention, as the photographer moved away, that for a whole team to watch the little birdie at once was a jinx.

Whereupon the Pittsburghers went out and lost five straight games to the Giants. Right in the midst of a crochical pennant race.

It doesn't prove that jinx exists. But it does prove that to imbue a team of men, with the idea that they can't win a ball game generally means that they won't win. For their pep and enthusiasm have been stolen.

PIPERS WIN BRIMMING "CUP O' KINDNESS"

Major General John W. Stewart, hero of the World war and millionaire railroad builder, presenting to the Clan McLean pipers of Vancouver, B. C., his much coveted "cup of kindness," a silver trophy for which the Canadian Scotch Highland bands of musicians compete every year. Incidentally—the cup presented by General Stewart was filled to the brim with old Scotch whiskey and every loyal clansman had the opportunity of pledging allegiance anew to the traditions of Auld Scotia.

THE AMERICAN VENUS

MISS MARIE LANDSON

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 2.—Here's a new Venus.

She has the distinction of not being a movie actress, a dancer or an artist model.

She is just a beautiful girl with a figure which Edward Broulard, famous New York artist, says is as perfect as that of the mythical Venus. She is Miss Marie Landson of Cambridge.

Broulard is a graduate of the Ecole Nationale des Beaux Arts of Marseilles, France. He has taken Miss Landson's measurements, and, after consulting with other French artists, has requested her to come to New York in the fall to pose as "The American Venus."

Miss Landson says there are some parental objections to her posing as Venus. It is not her ambition to become an artist model, but she would like to be "done in marble" as "the American Venus."

"Mr. Broulard took my measurements," Miss Landson says, "when I was sent to him by a friend some time ago. He expressed amazement."

"He says I am perfect because my height is ten times the length of my hand, and seven and a half times the length of my foot. The distance from my elbow to the tip of the middle finger is the same as from the elbow to the middle line of the breast. From the top of my head to the level of my chin is the same as from the level of my chin to my armpits."

Girls, how do your proportions compare with these?

WRECK AIDS ROMANCE

MRS. LAURENCE HICKAM

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 2.—Love emerged from terror in the season's worst shipwreck on the Pacific coast. For two years Laurence Hickam, railroad man and former lieutenant in the aviation service, had courted Miss Florence O'Brien of Portland, Ore., but progress was slow.

Miss O'Brien took passage on the Alaska, which sank on Blunt's reef with loss of many lives. During the tense moments of waiting for a lifeboat realization came to her of what a strong man's guidance means in such moments. When she reached shore, her belongings lost, she wired Hickam her discovery. He caught the next train and 24 hours after he arrived she was Mrs. Hickam.

CLEAN ALABASTER

Wash soiled alabaster with soap and water. Whitewash the stained parts and let stand several hours. Then wash off the whitewash and rub the stained parts with a soft dandel.

THE CHARM OF A BEAUTIFUL COMPLEXION

And How To Attain It

To be attractive—to be admired—is the secret desire of every woman. But few know how to attain this accomplishment.

First, it is necessary to remove all blemishes—tan, freckles, spots, liver blotches and pimples—and bring a pink glow of life to the skin.

Black and White Beauty Bleach will remove almost all embarrassing blemishes, and make the skin clear, soft and beautiful tinted. Black and White Soap will preserve the complexion.

Black and White Beauty Bleach is a delightfully perfumed, pink tinted cream. When applied it forms an invisible coating over the skin. Black and White Soap does away with tedious hours before your mirror or in the beauty parlor.

Clip and mail this ad to Black and White, Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn. for free literature and samples of Black and White Soap and of Black and White Beauty Bleach.

TO REMOVE DANGEROUS VARICOSE VEINS

People who have swollen veins or hemorrhoids should not wait until the itching point, which means much suffering and loss of time, but should at once secure from any reliable druggist a two-ounce original bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength).

By using this powerful, yet harmless, germicidal treatment improvement is noticed in a few days and by its regular use, swollen veins will return to their normal size, and sufferers will cease to worry. Moore's Emerald Oil treatment is used by physicians and is guaranteed to accomplish results or money returned.

It removes all kinds of enlarged glands, potholes and warts and is used exclusively in many large factories as an unfailing first aid to the injured anti-itcher. Generous sample on receipt of 10 cents, silver or stamps. International Laboratories, Rochester, N. Y. Your druggist or Fred Howard can supply you.—Adv.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quartet of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Patience stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

TO SELL WELBECK ABBEY

England's Great Estates Crumbling Under Weight of Taxes and Death Duties

LONDON, Sept. 2.—England's great estates are crumbling under the weight of taxation and death duties and one big landed proprietor after another among the nobility is dividing and selling his holdings, many of which have been in the hands of single families for centuries.

The latest indication that peers are finding it necessary to seek smaller homes comes in the announcement of the Duke of Portland that he may have to abandon his palatial mansion, Welbeck Abbey, in Nottinghamshire. This is only one of the residences of the Duke who owns some 200,000 acres in England.

"For centuries past landed estates have been handed down from generation to generation," said the duke, addressing his tenants on the occasion of the coming of age of his son, Lord Francis Cavendish. "Landlords and tenants have lived on terms of mutual trust and affection. I fear, however, that the state of things is passing away for with the present weight of taxation and the extremely onerous incidence of death duties, the future may become very uncertain for all landed proprietors. If it is good for the country, I certainly do not complain."

"With regard to my own case, it may or may not be possible for me and my family to continue to reside at Welbeck, but I fear that there can be little doubt that those who come after me will not be able to do so."

On all sides historic houses are finding new tenants and ancient families are severing their connection with the soil.

The Duke of Devonshire sold Devonshire House in 1919 and Stowe House, the property of Baroness Kinloss, was disposed of recently.

Others who have sold their properties recently include the Duke of Bedford, the Duke of Westminster, the Duke of Rutland, the Duke of Grafton, the Duke of Marlborough, Lord Leconfield, Lord Londesborough, Lord Portman, Lord Camden, Marquis de Casa-Teiga, Earl Beauchamp, Earl Bradford, Lord Aberdeen, Lord Lovat, Lord Harrington, Lord Harlech, the Countess of Warwick and Sir Richard Bulkeley.

Wor the subterranean passages and apartments built by the Duke of Portland at a cost of £3,000,000 in order to hide himself from observation by the outside world.

The abbey has an underground riding school 400 feet long, 106 feet wide and 50 feet high, capable of holding 10,000 persons.

There is a subterranean ballroom 158 feet long, 63 feet wide and 21 feet high, the walls of which are hung with famous paintings.

But the riding school and the ballroom are connected with the abbey by a series of tunnels.

Other features are large subterranean libraries and a tan bark course for galloping horses. It is a quarter of a mile long entirely covered in with glass. Altogether there are about 15 miles of tunnelling.

ROBBED HAIR, ETC. AS OLD AS PYRAMIDS

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—Robbed hair, concealed ears, short skirts and all the other fads and follies associated with modern women's styles are as old as the pyramids, according to the mute story told by the mummies of both Egypt and Peru in the Field Museum.

Wrapped in their pitched shrouds and encased in sarcophagi covered with curious paintings and hieroglyphs in colors still bright after three thousand years and more, these mummies, all that was mortal of a human being of ages ago, today link the present to a civilization long since dead.

The daily centre of thousands of curious eyes, the mummies seem to hold a strange fascination for every visitor to the museum, they are silent spectators of the passing throngs, but the paintings which adorn their resting places tell more plainly than words of their customs and manners of a forgotten age.

"Why, ma, they're dressed just like the girls we see on Michigan Boulevard," exclaimed an aged visitor to his wife as he gazed at the strange figures adorning the sarcophagi.

It appears like they did not wear a bit more than they do now," the woman answered as the pair moved away.

It is a far cry from the Nile of Cleopatra's day to the Pacific coast of Peru in South America, but mummies from both regions lying along almost within reach of each other now, but in the ignorant of each other's existence, bear graphic evidence of the greatest similarity and proficiency in many arts at a time when the Norsemen were ravaging all of southern Europe and the old world had almost sunk into barbarism. Dr. J. Alden Mason, assistant curator of Mexican and South American ethnology at the museum, has prepared an outline of the known history of the Peruvian mummies.

Both wove cloths in every weave known to the modern textile artist and made, in some cases, finer than are depicted today by the best mechanical means and the most skilled artists. Their pottery is unsurpassed even today in its type and their work in gold and copper challenges the modern craftsman. Unlike the Egyptians, the Peruvians used no process of embalming, but so dry were the sands of certain of their deserts that the dry bodies with their wrappings around them, have been preserved perfectly to this day with the objects placed around them.

Near the town of Ancon on the coast of Peru was found the greatest cemetery of these people. A great desert waste, no evidence of occupation is seen on the surface. Even when the first Spanish conqueror passed this way in 1533 every vestige of human occupation had entirely disappeared and the location of the town was quite forgotten. It was not until about seventy years ago that the first graves were discovered and for half a century they have yielded fortunes to treasure seekers who despoiled them to recover the golden ornaments left beside the bodies.

And now the mummies of both of these peoples tell of strange similarities in style, adornment, manners and industries to those of the present generation. It is a linking of the past to the present which holds a peculiar attraction for the museum. In silent state, are the most popular exhibit for the thousands of visitors who daily crowd the museum.

CHILDREN INJURED IN LAKEVIEW AVENUE

Sumner Kenney, aged 4, son of Patrolman and Mrs. William J. Kenney of 196 Ludlam street, is at St. John's hospital suffering from a fractured leg as a result of an automobile accident which occurred late yesterday afternoon in Lakeview avenue. The boy's little sister is confined to the home of her parents with minor injuries. The children with an older relative were on their way to Lakeside and were given a ride in an automobile in order to overtake the electric car, which had pulled out ahead of them. The driver of the auto, so it is said, stopped his machine in front of the electric car and Operator Clancy was unable to bring the car to a stop before a collision occurred.

Chinese Cinderella Refuses to Forsake Laundry for Film Fame

ANNA MAY WONG

N.E.A. Staff Correspondent
LOS ANGELES, Sept. 2.—The well-known fairy prince is going to have a hard time persuading Anna May Wong that the glided slipper of moviedom can bring her more happiness than work in her father's little Chinese laundry.

Anna May, 16-year-old Celestial "Cinderella" of the studios, twinkles before the screen by day, and presides at the ironing-board at night.

Well on her pretty way to fame, she says she will forego the promised career without a sigh if it means that her parents may lose pleasure or profit by her going.

Enters Fairyland

Movie-land to Anna May holds all the thrills that fairyland offers her occidental sisters. Handsome lovers shower her with attentions. Beautiful clothes adorn her slender form. Jewels sparkle from her jet black hair. Motor cars are at her beck and call. The thrill of the drama makes her forget that the camera is recording all this for the benefit of an amusement-loving public.

All this until 5.30. Then her hand-some suitors go home to their wives and babies, her jewels are placed in the studio safe overnight, her beautiful clothes are taken back to the property room.

Anna May pays the conductor five cents and trolley-cars to the home above her father's laundry. Here there are books of the little laundry shop to be kept, and many shirts to be pinned before they are wrapped to await the call of customers.

In Laundry Home

Anna May Wong in her laundry home looks just as she does on the screen. The poet would say that she stole the color of her face from a poppy, and that of her hands from a gardenia.

Anna May Wong is a discovery of Marshall Nellan. It was while hunting for types for his production of "Dinty" that Nellan discovered her, and after much inducement persuaded her father to allow her to forsake her shirt-pinning activities for the screen—at least during the day. Since then Anna May has played many good parts, for besides being an excellent "type," she has unusual talent. Her most recent effort was a co-star part opposite Lon Chaney in "Bliss of Life." She has not yet been convinced that her studio work is greater than her duties to her family. If she can achieve a motion picture reputation and still attend to her father's affairs, she will always be happy. If not, then her motion picture career must go, for filial devotion is inborn in the Chinese heart of Anna May.

SOUND-PROOF ROOMS FOR ARTISTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Sound-proof rooms for nervous artists are the latest in New York hotel service. One manager has installed one on the top floor of his hotel for the use of artist guests and the innovation has become so popular that reservations for its use have to be made several days in advance.

Singers, composers and actors and an occasional versifier have found there the noiseless atmosphere so stimulating to the artistic imagination. High C or any other soaring note may be reached for by the singer without fear that a whirling pneumatic riveter next door will break in and spoil the performance.

Not the merest shadow of a sound can sneak in to play the mischief when the creative artist is engaged in cultivating the muse. Nerves jangled by the clamor and strain of city life are soothed by silence and patrons of the sound-proof room say they don't see how they ever endured noise before.

There are no windows in the room and the door is of the ice-box type. The room is ventilated by means of special devices which noiselessly let in fresh air and draw out the used air in the same manner.

Experiment proved that no ordinary noise could begin to penetrate the specially constructed walls of the room. The walls just stifled the noise before it even got started. A hasty yell in the outside corridor died in the partition before reaching the stage of adolescence. Even a squad of window washers with rattly stepladders and jangling tin buckets failed to register on the calm inside the room.

A mob of angry janitors throwing empty ash cans in an area-way was suggested as the supreme test of the noise-smothering qualities of the apartment but the builders claimed that wasn't necessary.

Several delicate spirits who claimed they couldn't find any place in the city where they could hear themselves think have made reservations of the room. The furnishings are simple. A few creakless chairs, luxuriously upholstered and a heavy study table rest on a thick carpet in which the feet sink without a sound. A grand piano stands in one corner. The walls and ceiling are done in a flat dove-gray without a bit of color of any kind to disturb the quiet neutrality of the room's atmosphere.

FOR EATING

Never put anything to fry into fat which is not very hot. If you do the food will soak up the fat and be heavy and hard to digest.

Refers Dispute to League Assembly

GENEVA, Sept. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—The council of the League of Nations today decided to refer the entire dispute among Albania, Greece and Jugo-Slavia to the assembly of the league for settlement. Frank A. Vanderlip, former president of the National City bank of New York, Charles R. Crane, former United States minister to China, and David Hunter Miller arrived at Geneva today and were being shown the workings of the league.

Smith & Wesson Plant to Remain Closed

SPRINGFIELD, Sept. 2.—Smith & Wesson, pistol manufacturers, today announced a delay of a month in the reopening of their plant, which has been closed since July 15. It had been expected to resume operations September 6, but prevailing business conditions necessitated the change. The Ro-Royce of America, Inc., last night announced a delay of three to four weeks beyond September 6, for resumption of activities. The slowness of deliveries of automobile bodies by coach builders is said to be the chief reason.

Moorish Tribesmen Attack Spaniards

MADRID, Sept. 2.—Moorish tribesmen attacked two Spanish outposts near Melilla yesterday, it was said in a private despatch received from there. The attack was said to be most vigorous on one post. The Moors used hand-grenades. The conflict continued many hours. After darkness searchlights were thrown on the enemy. Yesterday a column of troops under General Sanjurjo attacked the rebels and inflicted severe casualties.

Turks Sign Treaty With France

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 2.—The treaty between the Turkish nationalists and France, recently revised, has been signed, despatches from Ankara said. The new accord was made necessary when the Turkish government took exception to several features of the original agreement, negotiated in Paris by Bekir Sami, former minister of foreign affairs of the Ankara government. Fifty Frenchmen who were held prisoners by the Turks have been taken to an Asia Minor seaport for repatriation.

"Tiger" Defends Work of Drafting Treaty

AJACCIO, Corsica, Sept. 2.—Georges Clemenceau, former premier of France, defended his work in the drafting of the Versailles treaty between the allies and Germany, in an address at Sartena, yesterday. He said: "I stand by the treaty of Versailles. It may not be perfect, but it will give genuine satisfaction to France if its conditions are carried out. If revisions are necessary they should be accepted only if compensations are made."

State of War in Nicaragua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Sept. 2.—Nicaragua has been for nearly 10 days operating under a government declaration that a state of war has existed. The republic is overrun by government forces, schools are closed and salaries of government employes have been reduced. Concrete reports of any enemy worthy of the name being in the field, however, are entirely missing.

Turks and Greeks in Fierce Battle

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Turkish nationalist forces fighting a desperate battle against Greeks in the loop of the Sakaria river in Asia Minor, are withdrawing toward Angora. Both sides have suffered heavily but the Turks were outnumbered, being able to bring only 17 divisions into battle against the entire Greek army.

Homing Planes on Way
ROANOKE, Va., Sept. 2.—All but two of the 21 army airplanes which arrived here yesterday on their way to West Virginia, left early today. One plane in attempting to get away was temporarily disabled and another of the planes remained with it.

The airplanes under Maj. Davenport Johnson are equipped with machine guns and ammunition.

Troops Entrain
CAMP SHERMAN, Ohio, Sept. 2.—Two troop trains carrying the 14th infantry numbering about 600 officers and men for the West Virginia mining district at 3:30 a. m. central standard time today. The troops were fully equipped for field duty, box cars and flat cars attached to the trains carrying horses, transportation and other equipment.

The troops are commanded by Col. Martin and their destination is said to be St. Albans, W. Va. Upon arrival there Col. Martin will report to Brig. Gen. Bandholtz.

Plan to Swamp Miners
CHARLESTON, W. Va., Sept. 2.—The recommendation that federal troops be sent into the disturbed area of West Virginia having been granted by the war department. Brig. Gen. H. H. Bandholtz, who will be in command, has himself today working out the details of placing the soldiers at strategic points. He opened headquarters in the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. building, taking an entire floor.

Secretary of War Weeks and General Bandholtz, who have taken active part in decision to send troops to West Virginia.

No official information had been received early in the day from Boone and Logan counties by the military authorities as to the situation there. Headquarters, it was said, was not worried about the situation at the moment, but was concentrating efforts to get the troops in quickly.

"We are going right in and swamping the disorderly elements," said a high military authority today.

Troops are expected during the day. These from New Jersey will probably not arrive until tomorrow morning.

spasmodic during the night. Col. W. E. Lusk, West Virginia national guard, in command of the Logan county forces, had no official statement to make, he said, and Sheriff Don Chaffin was equally reticent.

Three prisoners taken by patrols and brought here last night, were locked in the county jail where an hour before a fatal shooting had occurred.

While being transferred from one cell to another Paul Conkley, arrested at Ethel yesterday, charged with being a suspicious person, attacked jailer W. E. White, whereupon the officer killed him.

Women and Children Flee
ST. ALBANS, W. Va., Sept. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) Women and children from the Little Coal river country, where armed bands have gathered along the eastern slope of Spruce Fork ridge, have arrived here in large numbers and are quartered in hotels and with private families.

Many of them are families of business and professional men. Some are wives and children of miners.

As on yesterday, no trains were running on the Little Coal river branch of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad and the station agent here said that all the wires along the line had been cut. The signal system also was out of commission, he said.

When traffic was suspended three locomotives, a string of freight cars and a complete passenger train were in the vicinity of the mining towns where the men were congregating.

The people from the mining country tell of constant arrivals of bands of men from southern and central West Virginia, all armed. It is also related that all work in the region has been abandoned and business is at a standstill.

Reports reaching here this morning said that physicians from the towns around Blair had been summoned to that place where a temporary hospital has been opened for the wounded in the fighting along Spruce Fork ridge.

GOD INSPIRES DE VALERA

Mother of Irish President
Attributes His Work to
Divine Guidance

BY ALICE ROBE
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 2.—"God it is who inspires my son—not merely his mother—so why should I be of interest?"

A snow-haired old lady with blue eyes and as determined a mouth as ever expressed belief in Ireland's freedom was the speaker—Mrs. Catherine Wheelwright, mother of Eamon de Valera, president of the Irish republic.

While the son occupies the center of the stage in world interest, the heart of Ireland may be said to beat from this little house in a Rochester side street.

It was here Eamon de Valera first visited two years ago when the British authorities were looking for him.

Dynamic Figure
Mrs. Wheelwright, blue eyes snapping, aged figure full of determination and vigor, looks the part of an unflinching Irish patriot as ever gave mother interest to any Irish stage drama.

"Of course, a mother plays a part in her son's destiny, but my mother, too, had a lot to do with 'E's' life. What man becomes depends on his early training."

"My boy—a great man? Well, I guess England isn't so fond of him." The old lady laughed. "He certainly has given the British lion's tail a few twigs."

"Yes, he is a great world figure, but the truth and the whole future of Ireland's freedom is God's will—God's purpose working through my son."

"You think my son an important Irish liberty."

man today; well, it isn't anything to what he's going to be."

Mr. Wheelwright turned toward her husband, Charles Wheelwright, foreman in a big Rochester optical house.

"That is, if England doesn't get him."

"They won't," said Wheelwright. "Everything will be settled definitely before six months."

Recalls Visit

"Wasn't I glad to have him here, though?" she said, putting on her black hat and getting her prayer book, for she was going to mass. "We had great times together. I haven't been back in Ireland for 14 years, but I'm going again when—"

She stopped and looked, not wistfully, but excitedly about her little home.

"It's 42 years since I came to America. I've lived in Rochester 23 years."

"Seems long—but what's my life and that of my son to the hundreds of years Ireland's been fighting for freedom?"

"When 'E' was a little boy he seemed different from the others—may be a mother's prayers do count—but tell you it's God who chose him to fulfill a divine destiny."

"He was born in America and reared in Ireland; that's a good start for a liberator. He has grit, courage, determination and intelligence."

Mother of Liberty

Looking at the purposeful, shrewd, keen old lady, whose lined face is a dynamo of energy, one could understand what inheritance she had bestowed upon her son.

"It's best for me not to talk about politics and I can keep my mouth closed, but—"

As Mrs. Wheelwright, neat and black, clad, hurried off to mass, her gesture expressed volumes. There isn't a side-light on the Irish situation that isn't known to this old lady. She sits in her tiny little home and waits and watches her hour—the real mother of Irish liberty.

PROTEST AGAINST FRENCH WAR BLACK LISTS

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 2.—In Scandinavian circles there is a growing feeling against the keeping up by France of her Black Lists established by law of February 15, 1917. These lists keep Scandinavian firms from doing legitimate business with their old customers, not only German customers, but firms in Scandinavia, firms of high repute and standing.

Financial and commercial circles in Stockholm and Copenhagen are now attempting to put pressure on the Swedish and Danish governments to move in this matter and demand of France the repeal of this war act.

In some circles there exist even a tendency toward retaliation against France because it is alleged here, French firms are actually dealing direct with German and blacklisted firms at the same time the French government prevents neutral companies from doing the same.

In insurance circles the feelings may be gauged from the tenor of the following quotation from the official Scandinavian insurance journal: "We consider it a great impertinence that the names of highly respected Scandinavian companies—insurance and otherwise—today, nearly three years after the signing of the armistice, still figure on the French black lists as a punishment for conducting their business on strictly neutral lines. We know that prominent French insurers look eye to eye with us in this matter and feel ashamed that their country is keeping up a measure abandoned long ago by America, England, Italy and her other partners in the great war. The Act of February 15 must be repealed and the black lists must go. Even the neutral worm will turn."

FLOATING EXHIBITION OF AMERICAN PRODUCTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The American steamship St. Louis, fitted out as a floating exhibition hall with samples of the products of three hundred leading American manufacturers, will leave New York next January on an American sales promotion trip to 50 foreign ports. The slogan of the enterprise "Tell the World" will fly from the forepeak. The trip will take a year. The exhibition space is equal to that of Madison Square Garden.

Although there are a few misgivings about the present being auspicious for such a trip, J. Herbert Anderson, the promoter, says it should be remembered that business conditions in some parts of South America are good and will be improved in 1922. Japan, China, India, Australia, Norway and Sweden have been to a degree free from much of the financial worry that followed the world war, he says, and the Balkan states should be a fertile field for the exchange of commodities. All those countries will be included in the itinerary of the St. Louis.

It is claimed that many of the smaller countries have considerable wealth and buying power and that the American manufacturers will lose out in those fields in competition with Europeans unless they get busy. Interpreters and credit men will be carried on the trip to assist the manufacturers' representatives in presenting their goods to foreign buyers and establishing sound financial relations. The St. Louis is at present being converted into an oil barge.

WIRELESS ON FIRE

CHIEF'S AUTO

WAKEFIELD, Mass., Sept. 2.—Installation of wireless telephone on the automobile of Fred D. Graham, chief of the fire department, to enable him to keep in constant touch with headquarters no matter where he may be, is planned by local officials.

In addition to being fire chief, Graham serves as fire hazard officer and inspector of wires and these duties keep him away from the station much of the time. In the past when a still alarm or other emergency has required his personal attention there has sometimes been serious delay in reaching him. By installing a receiving set at the automobile and a sending set at fire headquarters it will be possible, it is believed, to ring him up at any time and send him speedily to the point where his presence is required.

Officials of the water department are watching the experiment with some interest as they have in mind a similar equipment for the automobile of Superintendent Harrison Merrill, who is frequently called on to answer emergency calls.

INTRODUCING PETER RUFF'S FASCINATINGLY TERRIBLE OPPONENTS:

(Abstract from first chapters of "Peter Ruff and the Double-4")

"I've done it!" he muttered hoarsely. "One blow! Thank heaven, he didn't want another!"

He turned away. The man who lay stretched upon the floor was an ugly sight. His two companions, cowering over the table, were not much better. Dyson's trembling fingers went out for the brandy decanter. Half of what he poured out was spilled upon the tablecloth. The rest he drank from a tumbler, neat.

"It's nervous work, this, you fellows," he said hoarsely.

"It's hellish!" Dickinson answered. "Let's have some air in the room. My God, it's close!"

He sank back into his chair, white to the lips. Dyson looked at him sharply.

"Look here," he exclaimed, "I hold you both to your bargain! I was to be the one he attacked and who struck the blow—in self defence! Remember that—it was in self defence! I've done it! I've done my share! I hope to God I'll forget it some day. Andrew, you know your task. Be a man, and get to work!"

Dickinson rose to his feet unsteadily.

"Yes!" he said. "What was it? I have forgotten, for the moment, but I am ready."

"You must get his betting book from his pocket," Sir Richard directed. "Then you must help Merries downstairs with him, and into the car. Merries is—to get rid of him."

Merries shivered. His hand, too, went out for the brandy.

"To get rid of him!" he muttered.

"It sounds easy!"

"It is easy," Sir Richard declared. "You have only to keep your nerve, and the thing is done. No one will see him inside the car, in that motoring coat and glasses. You can drive somewhere out into the country and leave him."

"Leave him!" Merries repeated, trembling. "Leave him—yes!"

Neither of the two men moved.

"I must do more than my share, I suppose," Sir Richard said, contemptuously. "Come!"

NOW MEET PETER RUFF HIMSELF

(Abstract from an early chapter of "Peter Ruff and the Double-4")

Peter Ruff, summoned by telephone from his sitting room, slipped down the stairs like a cat—noiseless, swift. The voice which had summoned him had been the voice of his secretary—a voice almost unrecognizable—a voice shaken with fear. Fear? No, it had been terror!

Between him and the girl, stretched upon the floor, was the body of a man in a huge motor coat, a limp, inert mass which neither moved nor seemed to have any sign of life. No wonder that Peter Ruff looked around his office, whose serenity had been so tragically disturbed, with an air of mild surprise.

"Perhaps now," Peter Ruff suggested, pointing to the motionless figure, "you can give me some explanation as to this!"

Merries looked away from him all the time he was speaking. His voice was thick and nervous.

"There were three of us lunching together," he began—"four in all. There was a dispute and this man threatened us."

Afterwards there was a fight. It fell to my lot to take him away, and I can't get rid of him! I can't get rid of him!" he repeated, with something that sounded like a sob.

"I still do not see," Peter Ruff argued, "why you should have brought him here and deposited him upon my perfectly new carpet."

"You are Peter Ruff," Merries declared. "Crime Investigator and Private Detective," you call yourself. You are used to this sort of thing. You will know what to do with it. It is part of your business."

"I can assure you," Peter Ruff answered, "that you are under a delusion as to the details of my profession. I am Peter Ruff," he admitted, "and I call myself a crime investigator—in fact, I am the only one worth speaking of in the world. But I certainly deny that I am used to having dead bodies deposited upon my carpet and that I make a habit of disposing of them—especially gratis."

HAD A GREAT TIME

Battery B Picnic Provides Happiness for Many Youngsters

The youngsters who attended the picnic conducted yesterday by the members of Battery B and the local headquarters detachment reported one of the happiest days of their young lives, when they returned to their homes last evening. Although it was the first affair of the kind conducted by the local military men, it proved a distinct success and the kiddies who attended the first affair are looking forward with anticipation to a similar good time next year.

At the park the soldiers in charge reported at the end of the day's festivities that they had distributed 5000 sandwiches, 10,000 glasses of lemonade, and about 5000 ice cream cones. The members of the Battery worked like "troopers" all day in serving the children and they deserve great credit for their efforts. The members of the battery who were present at the picnic are as follows: Capt. Winifred C. MacRayne, Lieut. John J. Walsh, Lieut. Emmott L. Savage, Sergt. John Curry, Sergt. Henry McCormack, Sergt. Walter J. Schell, Musician Coleman, Cook Alfred Bourgeois, Corp. Ray Richards, Corp. Jean Rochelleau, Corp. Arthur W. Hicks, Privates McNamara, Savard, Wilson, Thoren, Fournier, Langan, Fitzsimon, Donohue, Riller, Carroll and Musician Andrew Chalmers.

A feature of the afternoon was the money hunt conducted under the supervision of the officers of the battery. Ten $1 bills, 10 half dollars, and 15 in nickels, dimes and pennies were scattered about the field and then the children were allowed to seek the hidden cash.

Regan's military band furnished music throughout the day. The results of the field sports were as follows: Fifty yard dash for 10-year-old girls: Annie Tessier, first; Mary Perry, second; Margaret McDermott, third. Hundred yard dash for 10 year old boys: Francis Fagan, first; George Souza, second; Joseph J. Jany, third. Hundred yard dash for 16-year-old boys: William St. Morrow, first; James Kargas, second; Joseph Sullivan, third. Hundred yard dash for girls: Regina Marage, first; Mary Bourke, second; Nora Callahan, third. The judges for the races were Lieut. Savage, Sergt. Mitchell, and Sergt. Curry. The starter was Lieut. Walsh.

The committee in charge of the entire outing, consisting of Capt. MacRayne, Lieut. Walsh and Lieut. Savage, wish to thank all those who through their contributions, helped to make the picnic possible.

BIG IRISH FIELD DAY

Plans for the Sports and Speeches at Spalding Park on Labor Day

A new feature proposed by the executive committee in charge of the arrangements for the Irish refugee fund field day at Spalding park labor day will be the twilight open-air dancing which will take place at the conclusion of the day's sports and speaking. It is planned to establish dancing space in front of the midway booths at the park and to entertain the immense crowd for a few hours of the evening with Irish music and dancing. This additional attraction will be gladly welcomed by the younger element is the opinion of the committee in charge. To-day the committee will take steps to have electric lights installed in the outer section of the park where the booths will be built and to continue the midway attractions up to a seasonable hour.

The plans for the field day are now complete and those interested are looking forward to the word that will start the huge assemblage from the South common shortly after 10 o'clock. The crowd will gather there and, escorted by the Irish pipers, will march to a point in East Merrimack street, where they will board the special cars for the park. Then will commence a program of sports and Gaelic games which should delight the hearts of the Gael, old and young, and which should bring remembrances of happy childhood days spent upon the cross roads or at the fairs or races. It will be a gala event for all concerned and it is particularly attractive, inasmuch as the entire proceeds are going to help the women and children of the Irish republican soldiers and their destitute dependents, the victims of the reprisals and the ravages of the Black and Tans.

It is especially appropriate to have as the principal speaker Miss Anna Walsh of Cork, Ireland, sister-in-law of Lord Mayor MacCurrian, who was killed in his home. Miss Walsh will tell of the terrible details surrounding his death and how the family pleaded with the English officers not to do the mayor to his death. It is a story that will not be easily forgotten by those attending.

This field day is the only big real attraction for the Labor day program and everybody who has the time to do so should take it in. It will give real entertainment and will aid a most worthy fight.

Moonshine Whiskey Popular Drink

BOSTON, Sept. 2.—Moonshine whiskey is the popular drink of the home products of liquor in this state judging from the report today of Hermann C. Lythgoe, director of the division of food and drug control of the state department of public health. The number of samples of liquor submitted to him for testing during the 12 months ending Aug. 31, was 3191, compared with 1115 for the previous year, and by far the largest number were of home made whiskey. Some ale and beer were in the list, but not enough to rank them with whiskey in popular favor. Some of the whiskey ran to 95 per cent alcohol, but most of the makers were content with a percentage of from 20 to 35. Mr. Lythgoe said there was little difference in the quality of the product now coming in and that distilled before the Volstead act went into operation.

MADISON, W. In one ear, it was stated, were the bodies of a number of Whitesville men who had fallen in the fighting on Blair mountain.

A physician reported he had treated two men who reached Madison during the night from the vicinity of Blair. One had a gunshot wound in the arm and the other said he had fallen over a cliff in the mountains.

According to reports reaching the authorities here there was another brush on Blair mountain this morning. The firing continued for almost an hour. Casualties were not reported. Persons in possession of information from "the front" refused to talk for publication, although readily discussing the situation in private.

"I must not be quoted," said one physician; "it would get me in wrong."

MANY GARAGES BUILT HERE IN AUGUST

Evidence that Lowell people are still buying automobiles and are finding places to house them is found in the report of the buildings department for the month of August. In that period no less than 31 garages were erected here. While this number of automobile shelters were under process of construction, only 12 family dwellings were being built. Eight of these were one-family houses, three, two-family affairs and one a combination of store and tenement.

There was more building activity here last month than in any other month so far this year, with the exception of May. The estimated cost of all the work for which permits were taken out during August was $151,513. Fifty-four permits were issued for new building and $10,050 for alterations. Fifty-four permits were issued for new buildings and $10,050 for alterations. A year ago last month only 23 permits were issued but the total expenditure involved was $245,535.

Wood Accepts Post in Philippines

MANILA, Sept. 2. (By the Associated Press.)—Major General Leonard Wood today announced his acceptance of the post of governor-general of the Philippines, tendered to him by President Harding.

General Wood notified Secretary of War Weeks that he would retire from active service to accept the governorship. He said he believed it to be his patriotic duty to accept the position owing to the seriousness of the situation in the Philippines. General Wood said he probably would not ask retirement from the army until his appointment as governor-general of the Philippines had been confirmed by the senate.

General Wood gave out the following statement today in connection with his acceptance:

"I desire to accept the governorship because I believe the seriousness of the situation is superior to my personal wishes. I feel that it is my patriotic duty to accept and I will undertake to assume the duties of the office as soon as possible."

According to plans decided upon today, the Wood-Forbes mission will leave Manila for China September 10, thence proceeding to Japan and returning here about October 10. General Wood has just completed a tour of investigation of the island, probably will continue to the United States after leaving Japan.

STOCK MARKET

The following is a complete report, giving high, low and closing quotations:

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Mexican oil broke sharply at the opening of today's stock market on indication of a deadlock in the conference now under way between Mexican government officials and American interests. Mexican Petroleum resumed an opening loss of 2 1/2 points. This soon was increased to 2 3/4. Pan-American Petroleum fell one point and the "B" stock lost two points. Other foreign oils were strong, notably General Asphalt, which rose 2 1/2 points and Royal Dutch, which advanced one point. The balance of the list was irregular, fractional declines predominating.

Mexican Petroleum recovered all but a fraction of its loss before noon on the further rise of European oils and asphalt, the latter extending its gain to three points. Elsewhere, shorts evidently decided to expend no more force in their efforts to reduce their commitments over the coming holidays. Covering of such contracts in steel, equipments, motors and chemicals effected advances of one to four points. Ralls and shipplings shared in the rally, especially the Pacific Steam Navigation Co. and the Canadian Marine preferred. Call money opened at 5 1/2 per cent, that rate also applying to loans extending into next week.

Trading broadened at mid-day and the further rally lifted Mexican Petroleum slightly over yesterday's final price. Baldwin Locomotive, Harvester, Vandenberg, Kelly-Springfield, Virginia-Carolina Chemical, United Drug and Famous Players showed gains of 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 points.

Prices were at highest levels later, Mexican oil having advanced an actual gain of over three points. Advances among other leaders ran from one to three points, specialties showing greater gains. The closing was strong.

Title Role Is Bigger Than Starring Role in "Cappy Ricks"

HERE'S CAPPY RICKS, THE CHARACTER ORIGINATED BY THE PEN OF PETER B. KYNE, AS CHARLES ARBON PORTRAYS HIM IN THE MOVIE, "CAPPY RICKS"

BY JAMES W. DEAN

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—The director did his best to make the film version of "Cappy Ricks," from Peter B. Kyne's stories, a starring vehicle for Thomas Meighan.

But the story was greater than the director, for Cappy Ricks is the outstanding figure of the picture. And that's as Kyne had things in his stories.

Charles Abbe, who plays the part of Cappy Ricks, had something to do with the colorful result, too. He makes the old marine merchant appear as he does in the imagination of those who have read the Cappy stories.

Meighan has the part of Matt Peasley, first mate who assumes command of a trader after the captain is slain by savages. After an extended colloquy by cable with Cappy, who owns the trader, Peasley is greeted by "All hands and feet," Peterson, come to take command of the boat.

This latter character is played by Ivan Linow, a bustling wreather. For the sake of the story Peasley must subdue him, that is done in unconvincing manner.

There's a romance, of course, between Peasley and Cappy's daughter, Cappy takes the daughter on a cruise to forget about Peasley. Their yacht goes aground in a storm. The hero commandeers a tug and rescues them. The natural consequence follows.

The story interest of the film is rather meager but the director gets directly to his task and tells the tale without the aid of the hokum used to build up most pictures of slender story interest.

Agnes Ayres, the heroine, has the highest part I have ever seen her in. Hugh Cameron and John Sainpolis add to the picture's merit with their fine portrayals. The boarder makeup of Paul Everett as a sea captain is very poor, indeed.

LOIS WILSON AS "LULU BETT"

When Paramount announced that Mildred Harris was to have the leading role in "Lulu Bett," the movie fans arose on their collective hind legs and roared "How d'you get thataway?"

Mildred Harris may be beautiful but it was doggone hard to picture her in the Lulu Bett role.

William DeMille, director of the picture, evidently heard the roar of the mad populace, for he announces that Lois Wilson will be given the part assigned to Mildred Harris.

It's easier to picture Lois as the kitchen drudge, anyway. And the picture will be benefited by her greater ability to act.

BETTY COMPTON IS TO PLAY "THE LITTLE MINISTER"

Betty Compton has been chosen to play "The Little Minister," which endeared Maude Adams to countless thousands. Miss Compton states her entire future upon this picture. It will mark her as a great artist, worthy of consideration along with Mary Pickford, or it will cast her into the limbo of forgotten glories.

Penrhyn Stanlaw is to direct the film. He also will stand or fall as he interprets the story. John Robertson was originally slated to direct the picture as reward for his faithful portrayal of that other Barrie story, "Sentimental Tommy."

It was believed that Robertson would make the picture in England where he now is and that an English actress would be given the title role.

STUDIO GOSSIP.

Victor Fleming will direct Agnes Ayres in her first starring picture.

Richard Wayne will be leading man for Helen Foy in "Whatever She Wants."

The cast of "Sisters" includes Seena Owen, Matt Moore, Gladys Leslie and Joe King.

"Wife Against Wife" is the rather paradoxical title of Whitman Bennett's next production.

The leading role in "The Rosary" is played by Mildred Jones, formerly a Sennett bathing beauty.

Marquise de LaMotte has the leading role in "The Daughter of Brindam" from the F. A. R. Wylie novel.

Pretty girl with many pretty dresses as candidate for mayor against her fiancé—that's the plot of "Woman's Place," starring Connie Talmadge.

"The Noor to Return Road," a one-act play for the Lamby Gambel several years ago by Mrs. Otis Skinner, is to be produced in two reels by Selig-Rork.

NEW LAKEVIEW PARK

Tonight at Lakeview, the Honey Boys will pour forth melody in company with Miner-Doyle's orchestra. The combination is considered unusually good. Old timers and young chaps say so, and that's a pretty good ideal for Lakeview, which is literally a haven of rest and recreation. If you have doubts as to where to spend the week-end, Lakeview is the answer. And by the way, Lakeview will remain open throughout the present month. Public demand must be served.

Big Outing of Lowell Lodge of Elks at Martin Luther Grounds

JOHN J. HEALEY,
Sports ChairmanWILLIAM H. MAHAN, P.E.R.
Committee Chairman

HE'S AN ELK, OLD MAN, HE'S AN ELK!

If he's genial and friendly and ready to aid,
If he seems of the stuff of which manhood is made,
If he looks at you candidly square in the eye,
If he's there at the pinches without asking why,
A jolly good fellow whose grip of the hand
Shows he always stands ready at friendship's command,
If he's always a brother in good luck or ill,
If he meets you and shouts, as he shakes, "Hello, Bill!"
He's an Elk, old man, he's an Elk!

MACK.

Five hundred members of Lowell lodge, No. 51, B.P.O. Elks, aided and abetted by 561 lobsters—for there were "extras"—to accommodate the champion eaters—several thousand cars of good old corn, huge slabs of watermelon, fat Merrimack river clams and a few million other things to eat and drink, made merry yesterday at the Martin Luther club grounds at their annual outing. Early in the day the clams, and clams, began to gather. The clams went Tyngsboroed in a multitude of limousines adorned with Elk purple, while the clams were conveyed to their doom in the motor trucks of Caterer Lydon. As noon approached, Middle street was jammed with automobiles, bearing the insignia of the famous fraternal order, gay with purple balloons rising from radiators and with other festive trappings. The cars were marshalled into formation in front of the local clubhouse of the order, and proceeded through the thronging throngs of the club grounds. But even after the main body had left for Tyngsboro, the machines of belated Elks were starting towards the scene of the big time until a late hour in the afternoon.

When noses were finally counted, it was found that past records for attendance had been eclipsed. A veritable army of automobiles filled the parking space at the picnic grounds, while the clubhouse itself, together with the fields and groves surrounding it, were thronged with merry-makers, most of whom had divested themselves of coats and collars so as more energetically to share in the program of sports and other festivities.

The event, however, was not solely a matter of amusement. A worthy charity, the Elks' Christmas fund, will benefit by the profits gained from the occasion, and it is understood from the committee that these will probably be substantial.

Brothers from neighboring towns and cities were among the guests, as well as local Elks, who attended practically 100 per cent. Every phase of Lowell's political, business and professional activity had its representatives there. Mayor Perry D. Thompson was prominent among the guests of honor, while many of the city hall dwellers also were on hand early and stayed late.

The Sports

A large contingent descended upon the local body from Medford, armed in the panoply of baseball paraphernalia, and sought to wrest away the silver cup which Lowell copied a year ago. When the smoke of battle cleared away, however, the home organization had the bacon firmly clenched within its grasp, to the melody of 3 to 2.

Other sports included some ferocious pillow fights, three-legged, pipe, fat men's and other types of races, and sundry other events. The ball game, however, held the centre of interest during the balance of the afternoon, preceding the big layout in the grove. The contest was for possession of a large silver cup, the gift of Sam Scott, Lowell, by her victory, gained permanent possession of the trophy.

"Jim" Maloney took the mound for the locals, and for the balance of the game had the opposing batsmen waving at the atmosphere. As "Jim" hasn't been active in baseball of late, however, it was thought best to stick to Eddie Cawley in the fifth. Eddie absolutely refused to permit a run. Medford, in fact, was only able to score in the fifth. In that session the pill was soaked into a nearby hayfield by Gillette, substitute catcher of the Medfords, with two men adorning the bases. As the "Eds" could not locate the apple, which was coily hidden beneath the luxuriant herbage, the wallow was good for a homer, and Gillette rapped in on the tail of his two team-mates. Cawley was the only other player to knock the ball for a goal.

Bob Ganley, who careered for years in the majors, was stationed in center field for Lowell, and showed that he still retains his form. The following was the lineup and score by innings: Lowell: Scott 11 and 11, White 11 and 11, Ganley 11, Cawley 11 and 11, Lisson 11, Canney 11, Thompson 11, Roland 11, Maloney 11 and 11, J. Collins 11.

Medford: Leahy 11, Pashey 11, McKee 11, G. Twombly 11, Merrigan and Babcock 11, E. Fahey 11 and 11, Hamilton and Prior 11, Doyle 11, Gillis 11, O'Brien 11, Empire: Cronin.

The score by innings: Lowell: 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10 11 12 Medford: 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0

The Lowell team was under the direction of John J. Campbell, appointed manager for the present season. Campbell took capable charge of all the numerous details in connection with the game.

Clam bake in the grove. At the end of the ball game, there was a sudden movement to be dissolved in the direction of the pine grove which lies at the rear of the clubhouse. Here a number of long tables had been laid with pleasant things to eat, including all the fixings of a real old-fashioned clam bake. There was first, fish chowder, then in turn, came baked fish, clams, sweet and plain potatoes, lobster, cucumber and lettuce salad, watermelon, and other things too numerous to mention but not too numerous to sample. Ample justice was done to this repast, despite the fact that throughout the afternoon, from the time the first cars arrived, there was a buffet lunch prepared on the veranda. Sandwiches of all kinds, beans and brown bread, pickles, cheese, doughnuts, coffee and tonic made up this preliminary menu. The eating arrangements went on with perfect success, and a large hole dug in the ground contained a fire, and upon this, in an enormous cage, were laid the materials for the banquet, smothered in seaweed. The real clam bake savor was imparted by this time-honored method of preparation.

After Dinner Amusements. After dinner, sports once more occupied the attention of the guests. After several trials, heats, the 100 yard dash was won by Gaffney of Medford. Finnegan of Lowell second, and Fahey of Medford third. Prizes: gold coin, Waterman fountain pen and Gillette shaving set.

A heroic work was done by the contestants in the three-legged race, who bore with some heavy tumblers their eagerness to attain the goal. The first prize was finally gained by Donnelly and McDougal of Lowell, with Canney and Robinson second. Shaving sets were the prizes for the former, and flashlights for the latter.

Jack Bury, cooped in the fat man's race, gleaming a silk umbrella as the reward for his prowess. Tim Maloney drew a fountain pen as winner of second prize.

Finnegan of Lowell won the hop, step and jump, receiving a silver cigarette case, while the second prize, a silk shirt, went to Ralph Canney. George Twombly of Medford took first honors in the pipe race, with Jack O'Dea second. Twombly got a card case, and Jack a gold knife. Canney won a blue serge suit pattern, first prize in the shoe race. Gaffney, second, received an Elks pin. In the "You and I" race Finnegan and Robinson came in first, with Doyle and Gaffney of Medford second.

Medford beat Lowell in the relay race, her team being composed of O'Brien, Fahey, Leahy, and Gaffney. The local club was represented by Finnegan, Bury, Robinson and Robertson. Those who had been in preceding contests, but had attained no awards, were now made participants in a consolation race, and William Maloney of Lowell was first in this, with O'Brien of Medford second, and Doyle third. Doyle and Barnes of Medford fourth. A pillow fight closed the sports program.

Among these present were the mayor, council members, and various city officials, with the following out-of-town guests: Mayor Ben Haines of Medford, Arthur E. Crowley, captain ruler of Medford lodge, Sheriff Fairbank of Cambridge, and several others.

The following committee had the affair in charge: William H. Mahan, chairman; J. J.

GOLDEN JUBILEE PLANS

For L'Union St. Joseph, Old-French Society of Lowell

All arrangements for the observance of the golden jubilee of the L'Union St. Joseph, one of the oldest French fraternal societies of this city, which will take place next Monday, have been completed and all that is needed now to make the event a most happy one is good weather.

The day's program will consist of a high mass of thanksgiving at St. Joseph's church in the morning, followed by an outing at Revere beach. A special musical program will be given at the church under the direction of the members of the union and their friends will board special electric cars, which will convey them to the seashore, where an elaborate program will be carried out. The committee on arrangements is headed by President Joseph P. Marehand.

FIREBUGS SENTENCED

Sent to Lyman School for Having Set Fires in Billerica

Taine Ouellette, 10, and Richard Potter, 11, boy firebugs who have terrorized the communities of Billerica and Tewksbury by setting disastrous fires, were sentenced to the Lyman Industrial school for boys today by Judge Enright in the juvenile court. The pair admitted starting a number of fires which burned farm buildings. They denied, however, responsibility for the burning of a barn belonging to Ouellette's father. No appeal was taken from the finding of the court, and the boys were taken to the school in custody of an official of the institution.

TO FIX DOMINION'S TARIFF POLICY

LONDON, Ont., Sept. 2.—Dissolution of the Canadian parliament at an early date and an election before the end of the year to settle the dominion's tariff policy, was the program enunciated last night by Premier Meighen. He announced he would make such a recommendation within the next few days.

Difficulties over the tariff have sprung up since the war through the growth of a strong farmers' party which demands free trade. The premier declared he was certain this policy was wrong, and predicted it would be rejected at the election.

NEW METHODS OF ROBBING RAILROADS

Have the local police obtained clues to a new method of theft from railroads, which have lines passing through Lowell? Two recent discoveries of abandoned merchandise, believed to have been tossed from freight cars in motion, point toward that conclusion. Last night shortly after six o'clock, Patrolman Ramsey found two cases of shoes beside the tracks of the N. Y. & H. R. R. road, in the vicinity of the Six-Arch bridge. About sixty pairs of shoes were contained in the cases. A few days ago another patrolman of the local force discovered five cartons of evaporated milk hidden in some bushes near the tracks of the N. Y. & H. R. R. Road. Railroad detectives are now engaged in investigation of the two incidents, and it is believed that a conspiracy to rob freight cars on a large scale may be revealed.

Lloyd George Calls Cabinet

is spending a brief vacation at Gairloch, Scotland, and it was announced that, returning on the Sinn Féin ship to the prime minister's note regarding settlement of the Irish question would be given out here until it was known to be in Mr. Lloyd George's hands.

It was believed, however, that Sinn Féin leaders did not discuss with the prime minister any of the points of his latest note, which appears to be the final clause, in which further negotiations were suggested. There is evident a desire of men high in the councils of the republican movement to develop further the conditions upon which dominion status would be granted Ireland, and there appears to be a disposition to consider favorably some features of the prime minister's terms.

Boy Dies of Wounds

Mayor Shuns Responsibility

ter from Edward W. Gallagher, assistant secretary of the chamber, asking what the circumstances were which made it impracticable for the purchasing agent to advertise for bids and purchase, under contract, paving blocks bought from Frank Malloy several months ago. Mr. Gallagher said that the chamber had understood that these blocks were purchased without a competitive bidding and without a contract being made therefor.

Mayor Thompson today forwarded a reply to Mr. Gallagher in which he referred the whole matter to the purchasing agent. The mayor also forwarded Purchasing Agent Foye a letter in which he enclosed a copy of the letter from the chamber and asked that Mr. Foye reply to the latter communication at his earliest convenience.

The Mayor's Reply

The mayor's letter to Assistant Secretary Gallagher follows: "Dear Sir: Your letter of August 24th at hand and the contents concerning the purchase of paving blocks and contract duly noted. Inasmuch as I know that Mr. Foye, the city purchasing agent, has all the requisitions and data relative to the purchase of the paving blocks in question in his possession, and therefore is better able to give you a complete and detailed explanation, I have this day sent your letter to him, with the request that he reply to it at his earliest convenience.

Very truly yours, PERRY D. THOMPSON, Mayor of Lowell.

Letter to Foye

His letter to Mr. Foye was as follows: "Dear Sir: I have this day sent your letter to him, with the request that he reply to it at his earliest convenience.

Driver Goes to Jail

Continued. imposed. Some months ago Judge Enright announced that he would send to jail anyone found guilty of operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor, and this policy has been pursued. "I cannot help it," declared his Honor, when he learned of the family circumstances of the defendant, "I am sorry for the wife and five children of this man, but he has to go to jail." Great aggravation was lent to the case, by the fact that Officer Joseph Clark, who made the arrest, testified to finding a quart bottle containing moonshine in the machine. Pitkewicz was driving last night when he was taken into custody at Middlesex and South streets.

It appears that Pitkewicz stalled his car in the street, and that this attracted the attention of Officer Clark, who approached and discovered that the defendant, who was at the wheel, was intoxicated. The latter, it seems, was manipulating the brakes and other appliances in a novel manner, and one totally uncommon among drivers of machines who are in a normal mental condition. Officer Clark produced a bottle wrapped in paper, which he exhibited to Judge Enright, as having been found in the car. It held moonshine. Pitkewicz appealed from his sentence and was held in bonds of $300 for the superior court.

Fined For Assault

Testimony that Petrolena Kulkowska kicked a neighbor as the latter sat on some steps with a baby, resulted in the imposition of a fine of $12 on the former in the district court today. "This is evidently a neighborhood quarrel," said the court, adding that he thought women who testified to the assault may have concealed some things. The defendant declared vehemently that she had been called ugly names, and Judge Enright expressed himself as addressed to her before she kicked the complainant. "But this did not justify her in her actions," ruled his Honor, imposing sentence. At first Mrs. Kulkowska refused to pay the fine, and appealed. When she was unable to get bail, however, and was being taken to the detention room, she changed her mind and produced the cash.
